Following Too Closely Is Costly Fault

This Driving Error Major Cause of Accidents

Drivers who speed along the highway only a few feet from the car ahead are flirting with disaster.

This is the opinion of Ohio traffic safety and law enforcement officials including Cpl. D. M. Dewalt of the Marion post of the state highway patrol.

A large number of highway collisions in the Marion area are caused by impatient, discourteous drivers who ride the tail of the car ahead, according to patrol records.

ANY EMERGENCY requiring the driver of the leading car to stop fast often results in a collision. This is because the driver of the following car, even if he notices the tail lights of the first car flash on, hasn't time to stop.

The best way to avoid such collisions is for the driver of the car to the rear to maintain an adequate distance between himself and the car ahead.

THE NATIONAL Safety Council advises that a good rule of thumb to avoid such collisions is to keep at least 10 feet back of the car ahead for each 10 miles an hour of your speed.

Thus, at 50 miles an hour, the safe clearance from the car ahead is no less than 50 feet, more if possible. Observance of this rule would help eliminate many highway crashes, Dewalt said.

For example, if you are driving along at 50 miles an hour and have 50 to 60 feet clearance from the leading car, any emergency stop by the car ahead could likely be duplicated by yourself and no collision would result.

"One of the most difficult things for most city drivers to do is adapt themselves to highway driving compared with driving in town," Dewalt said.

"THEY ALLOW THE same interval between their car and the one ahead as if driving at slower speeds in the city and this is usually not sufficient clearance on the highway," he said. While 20 feet clearance may be ample clearance at 20 miles an hour in town, it is less than half enough clearance for safety at 50 miles an hour on the highway, he added.

Not only is this a safety hazard, it is also a violation of law. The Ohio Motor Vehicle Law governing "the space between moving vehicles" reads:

"The operator of a motor vehicle . . . shall not follow another vehicle . . . more closely than is reasonable and prudent, having due regard for the speed of such vehicle . . . and the traffic upon and the condition of the highway.

"The driver of any truck or motor vehicle drawing another vehicle, when traveling upon a roadway outside a municipal corporation shall maintain sufficient space, whenever conditions permit, between such vehicle and another vehicle ahead so an overtaking vehicle may enter and occupy such space without danger. This paragraph does not prevent overtaking and passing nor does it apply to any lane specially designated for use by trucks."

Cpl. Dewalt said state highway patrolmen strictly enforce this law, as well as other traffic laws, and arrest all violators.

FOLLOWING TOO CLOSELY is a contributory cause of many highway traffic accidents, according to state highway patrolmen from the Marion post. Driving at only 20 miles an hour, the driver of the right hand car shown here could not avoid a collision if the lead car made an emergency stop. At 50 miles an hour the resulting collision could prove serious. Safety officials advise staying at least 10 feet to the rear of the car ahead for each 10 miles of the rate of speed.

Police Charge Dr. Sheppard With Murder

Bay Village Osteopath Arrested; Pleads Not Guilty to Killing Wife

BAY VILLAGE, Ohio (AP) — Maintaining his innocence and complaining that his arrest was unjust, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was jailed last night on a warrant charging him with the murder of his wife.

After pleading innocent in Town Hall, the tall, 30-year-old osteopath was led in handcuffs to his cell.

"I didn't think it could happen in this country," he remarked about his arrest.

Savagely Beaten

Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard, an attractive, 31-year-old expectant mother, was found in her blood-soaked bed the morning of July 4, her face and skull bashed in by 27 savage blows.

Since then, Cleveland police — officially invited into the case only last week — had urged the arrest of her husband, a well known figure both socially and professionally in this swank lakefront suburb.

Sheppard is charged with first degree murder; authorities claim the slaying of his wife was premeditated.

Girl Held as Witness

Miss Susan Hayes, the pretty 24-year-old laboratory technician who formerly worked in the same Bay Village hospital as the doctor, was in a downtown hotel today, watched over by a policewoman.

She is a possible witness who voluntarily returned to Cleveland to tell investigators of her association with the osteopath. County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan said Wednesday she signed a statement telling of intimacies with Dr. Sheppard. At the inquest he had flatly denied he ever was intimate with her.

Dr. Sheppard was wearing a white T shirt when he was arrested and taken before Acting Mayor Gershom Barber. On the evening of July 3, neighbors who had dinner at the Sheppard house saw him wearing a white T shirt, but it had disappeared by the next morning. He said he could not recall what happened to it.

The young doctor also was wearing the heavy leather collar which has been around his neck much of the time since the day of the slaying.

LAUNCHES ATTACK ON McCARTHY. Senator Ralph Flanders (R) Vermont, launches his battle for the formal censuring of Senator Joseph McCarthy, accusing the junior senator from Wisconsin of "compromising" the nation's honor. He also attacked McCarthy for displaying what he called "habitual contempt" for the Senate and the American people.

Resolution's Backers Face Uphill Fight

Dirksen Stirs Senate With Charge Censure Move Backed by Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) won support today from Sen. Duff (R-Pa), a fervent backer of President Eisenhower, but Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) called it an "utterly improper approach."

Duff spoke out in an interview. Hickenlooper expressed his views as the Senate formally voted to consider the resolution by Sen. Flanders (R-VT), which charges McCarthy with conduct unbecoming a senator.

Dirksen Makes Charge

After discussing the subject for several hours last night, the Senate acted formally by voice vote today to take up the Flanders resolution. Several "no" votes were heard.

Flanders appeared to be facing an uphill battle in his censure effort, and lengthy debate was expected on his motion in the wake of charges by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) last night that the attack against McCarthy is Communist-supported.

Republican leader Knowland of California told reporters he plans to let the Senate go on to some decision on the censure proposal rather than sidetracking it for other pending legislation.

"I don't know how long it will take but this will be the Senate's business until it is disposed of in some way," Knowland said.

But he called for an unusual luncheon recess—from 12:30 to 2 p.m. (EDT), because he said he considered the matter of such importance that senators should have an opportunity to hear all the debate.

The Senate normally does not recess for lunch or dinner, although individual members are free to leave the chamber at any time.

The morning round started slowly. Only 10 senators, seven Republicans and three Democrats, were at their desk for the opening prayer. The absence of a quorum was suggested by Knowland, and the clerk began calling the roll.

Galleries Filled

But the galleries were filled early in anticipation of lively debate. An added attraction, with Washington facing 100-degree heat, may have been the air cooling in the Capitol building.

Hickenlooper said he must be absent from the Senate later today and that if a vote came he wanted

Knowland Asks Delay in Vote On Foreign Aid

Wants Prior Senate Approval on Separate Authorization Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif) applied the brakes in the Senate today to prevent the cart from getting ahead of the horse on the administration's multibillion - dollar foreign aid program.

He asked the Senate Appropriations Committee to delay a scheduled vote on actual funds for the global program against communism until the Senate could complete passage of a required separate authorization bill.

Sets Ceiling on Funds

The authorization sets a ceiling for the funds figure so should be passed first, but it got sidetracked before a final vote last night when debate erupted over a move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was ready to act "but we'll hold up until we get the signal."

At least one major Senate test remained for the authorization bill: an effort by Sen. Long (D-La) to chop $1,033,000,000 off the $3,100,000,000 ceiling for this year voted by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Two Changes Made

The Senate made two changes in the bulky bill during debate which lasted from 9 a.m. until early evening:

1. It approved 86-2 an amendment by Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) to add 10 million dollars to a 23½ million dollar fund for technical cooperation in Latin American nations.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla) helped Smathers by telling the Senate

Portsmouth Girl Wins State Baton Twirling Contest

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — "A very fancy strutter."

That was how one official at Buckeye Lake Park talked today about lovely, 16-year-old Sandra Keyes of Portsmouth, the new Miss Majorette of Ohio. Sandra strutted and twirled her way to the top spot in competition at nearby Buckeye Lake among a field of 80.

She will represent Ohio in the first national drum majorette competition at Buckeye Lake Sunday.

Right behind Sandra, in the contest, in this order, were Becky Sue Ameling, 12, Woodville; Ruth Berner, 16, Centerville, and Ruth Ann Nethery, 16, Cleveland.

Top twirlers from 31 other states were arriving in Columbus today for the national competition. The contest is sponsored by the Drum Majorettes of America, which according to Mrs. Roy Lovett, of near New Bloomington, a representative of the group is dedicated to "better twirling."

First place winner in the national competition gets a trophy and $200 in cash.

Iron Ore From Canada Heads for Mills in States

SEPT ILES, Que. (AP) — Iron ore from newly tapped veins on the Quebec - Labrador border began funneling toward American steel mills today.

Millions of tons will follow. Experts say it may take 50 or 100 years to get out all the ore that lies in the rust-tinged hills barely a thousand airline miles northeast of New York.

55 Per Cent Iron

This iron ore is the basic stuff that is converted into iron, steel and then motor cars or other products. There is about 55 per cent iron in the ore that has been piling up the last month at the docks of this St. Lawrence River port, brought here on a railroad built just for that purpose. The railroad takes 357 miles, through some of the wildest territory in North America, to get from the open-pit mines to dockside here.

Today the first consignment is being made to the mills. The ore is being loaded into a 20,000 ton freighter for shipment out the St. Lawrence and down the Atlantic Coast to Philadelphia. It is going to five steel makers — Republic, National, Armco, Wheeling, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube. They, in concert with the M. A. Hanna Co. of Cleveland and the Hollinger Consolidated Gold mines, Ltd., control the Iron Ore Co. of Canada, developers of this 250 million dollar Canadian ore project.

The ore is produced at Knob Lake in an area that has little to recommend it except fishing and iron deposits. There are no roads through the miles of muskeg — mossy bogs —that surround Knob Lake. It took three years to build the single track railroad.

$7 or $8 a Ton

A ton of ore is worth $7 or $8 at dockside here. This year only about 1½ million tons will be scooped up and brought here. By 1956 the Iron Ore Co. hopes to be moving 10 million tons a year, equal to about a seventh of the annual output from the famous Mesabi Range in Minnesota, which is beginning to be depleted.

Taft Memorial Foundation Set By GOP Heads

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first anniversary of the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) was noted in the Senate today by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) who succeeded Taft as majority leader.

Knowland called attention to formation of "The Robert A. Taft Memorial Foundation to perpetuate the high standards and ideals of public service which were exemplified by the life of Sen. Taft."

He said the foundation "will promote the collection and disbursing of funds to be used for furthering the high purposes which motivated the life of Sen. Taft.

"These purposes, stated briefly," Knowland said, "will be the advancement of progress in the religious, charitable, scientific, literary and educations fields in the United States.

Harding High Enrollment Up

1,200 Students Seen By Opening of School

Registrations at Harding High School for the 1954-1955 school year are far ahead of last year at this time, Principal Cecil W. Gabler said today.

To date, 1,178 students have registered for the coming term, an increase of 103 over this time last year. Gabler said the 1,200 mark will be passed when all new students are registered.

By 1963, about 1,600 students are expected to be attending Harding. Enrollment should drop off after this peak to a norm of 1,250, Gabler said.

A record enrollment of sophomores is predicted for the coming year.

Gabler said the new high school was not built a year too soon. He said enrollments in the upper three grades have increased from 946 during the 1949-1950 year to 1,062 last year.

Scheduling for the students already registered has been completed, he said. During the two weeks preceding the opening of school on Sept. 7th new tenth-eleventh and twelfth grade students should come to the high school office to complete registration, Gabler said. The high school office will be closed from Aug. 2 to Aug. 16.

Flight Service Cut in 91 Cities By Pilot Strike

Protest Long Hours; Settlement Reached in Aluminum Discussion

CHICAGO (AP) — Airline service was curtailed today in 91 cities across the nation as some 1,200 AFL pilots struck against American Airlines in a dispute over flight schedules.

Meanwhile settlement of a strike threatened for midnight tonight that would halt about half the nation's aluminum production, was reported already reached or near at hand.

Mediators Silent

The Pittsburgh-Post-Gazette said today representatives of the Aluminum Co. of America and the CIO Steel Workers Union had reached a "peaceful settlement" in their wage dispute. Government mediators, however, declined to make any official statement.

The airlines strike which began at midnight last night (local standard time) will force cancellation of all American's 970 daily flights on 12,000 miles of routes. The line is the nation's largest domestic carrier, handling an estimated 20,000 passengers daily.

Company officials said service will end today with 32 flights by pilots returning to their home bases.

Nonstop Service

The AFL Air Line Pilots Assn. called the strike to enforce its demand that pilots on American's transcontinental flights shall not be required to fly more than eight hours continuous flying time in one day.

The airline, in newspaper advertisements, called it a "strike against better airline service."

But Clarence L. Sayer, president of the pilots' union, said it was a battle "for preservation of safety

Plugs for Crusade

Rhee Undaunted by Cold Reception to Idea on Asia

WASHINGTON (AP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee, undaunted by official coldness to his ideas in Washington, carries to the country this weekend his appeal for a "great crusade" against Communist rule in China.

A statement jointly issued by Rhee and President Eisenhower last night made clear that the Korean leader had met with no encouragement during his talks here for his proposal for a militant campaign against Asia's Red rulers.

Military Aid Assured

It was reported unofficially, however, that Rhee got Eisenhower's assurance of American aid to build up South Korea's military forces to meet the growing power of Communist forces in North Korea.

A diplomatic informant, asking not to be named, said the planned buildup—to be discussed in further detail in followup staff talks continuing in Washington—would involve boosting South Korea's reserve army force and giving her naval craft and jet planes.

By contrast, the joint statement of Rhee and Eisenhower was concerned mainly with very general declarations of cooperation and friendship and a pledge "to move forward" in accordance with the U. N. charter, to achieve Korean unification.

Rallies Support

The charter forbids the use of armed force to obtain a political objective. The meaning of the joint statement in this resect seemed to be that Rhee had agreed that he would not deliberately start up the Korean war again to unify his country.

Rhee's congressional speech and his talk before the Overseas Writers here yesterday, however, left no doubt of his intent to rally all possible support for his conviction that if Asia is to be saved action must eventually be taken against Communist China.

The joint statement brought to an end the week-long round of conferences which Rhee and other South Korean officials have held with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and other American leaders. The final talks were held at the State Department yesterday.

Rhee's own views had been bluntly set forth in his speech to Congress Wednesday calling for action against Red China, and a followup address to Washington newsmen in which he made his "great crusade" plea.

The first step in such an under-

'Dynamite Kid' Eludes Police

Youngstown Youth's Parents Picked Up

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Police arrested the parents of the so-called "Dynamite Kid" for questioning yesterday in an effort to run down the elusive youth, who has been hiding three weeks in a wooded area on the east side.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Carney, were booked on a warrant of suspicion of harboring their 19-year-old son, Michael. The youth is wanted for questioning in a drive-in theater robbery at New Castle, Pa.

Carney gets his nickname from a report that he wears a vest containing stolen dynamite, with which he intends to blow up himself and any would-be captors.

Yesterday city editor Francis Wise of the Youngstown Vindicator got a phone call from a youth who identified himself as Carney. The youth offered to surrender to Police Chief Paul Cress and a priest. A radio reporter learned of the planned meeting and told of it on a broadcast. Subsequently, the meeting was attended by several hundred persons who heard the broadcast, but Carney did not show up.

July Concludes As Heat Wave Lifts Mercury

Marion was sweltering under another hot, sticky day today as July came to a close. The temperature soared steadily upward.

The mercury stood at 84 shortly before 11 a.m. and was rising while the Ohio weather forecast called for temperatures in the mid 90's.

Meanwhile, condition of George E. Goyer of 603 Irey Ave., overcome by heat yesterday when the temperature reached 94, was listed as "fair" by Marion City Hospital attaches. Goyer, a state highway department employe, was stricken yesterday morning while working near Marion on Route 23.

This morning's 84 was a rise of seven degrees here in little over three hours. The mercury stood at 77 at 7:30, local weather observers reported. The overnight low was 72.

The Ohio weather forecast today was partly cloudy and hot, with relief in the form of scattered thundershowers today and in the south tonight. Highs of 92-96 in the north and 96-100 in the south were expected.

It was to be cooler in the north tonight, with lows of 65-70. Sunday is expected to be partly cloudy and cooler.

Yesterday's high was 94 with a low of 63 compared to 88 and 68 a year ago.

Chinese Ran Into 'Bunch of Tigers'

Commander Tells Story of Red Attack

MANILA (AP) — Two Red Chinese fighter planes who picked a fight with U.S. Navy pilots five days ago ran into "a bunch of tigers," the American air commander said today.

The Chinese were shot down July 26 by the U.S. pilots searching for possible survivors of a British airliner shot down by Red Chinese planes off Hainan Island.

No American Casualties

In three action-packed minutes, the Navy Skyraiders from the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea blasted the propeller-driven Red fighters into the South China sea about 15 miles east of Communist-held Hainan. No American casualties were reported.

The United States protested to Peiping that the search planes were attacked over open sea. Peiping rejected the protest and charged U.S. planes "violated" the air over Hainan.

The Navy pilots — on orders — ignored later tracer fire from a Communist Chinese gunboat escorting two Polish freighters.

Details of the dramatic story were told at a press conference today for the first time by Vice Adm. W. K. Phillips, commander of the U.S. 1st Fleet, and the pilots who participated.

"It is my opinion those two Communist pilots exercised very bad judgment," he said.

Commanded Task Force

Phillips commanded the task force, including the carriers Philippine Sea and Hornet, during the rescue operations.

The 11 Sykraiders, 9 of whom fired bursts into the Red planes before they crashed, were commanded by Cmdr. George C. Duncan, Tacoma, Wash.

Duncan, a veteran of the Korean War credited with 15 Red planes, said his boys were "like a bunch of tigers" when the Red fighters—LA7s—attacked.

The commander said, "It was like World War II days again. . . one big ball in the air."

Duncan had scattered his flight in "layers" for the search mission. He, Lt. Roy M. Tatham, Andrews, N.C.; and Ens. Richard R. Crooks, Los Angeles, were flying at about 5,000 feet.

The other planes were in groups of four at 3,000 feet and 500 feet.

Supporting them were two F4U fighters, acting as cover, and three Skyraiders about five miles to the south serving as communications relay.

Duncan and Tatham saw the Communist planes at about 6,000 feet almost simultaneously. Tatham said, "there's bogies coming in from starboard."

The Reds barreled in from the seaward side of the Navy planes but their bullets went over the Skyraiders.

Duncan, Tatham and Crooks weaved into position. Tatham made one pass but couldn't shoot because Duncan was too close. He made two more tries and hit one Communist plane with machine-gun fire both times. Crooks' bullets also found their mark and the Red plane spun into the water.

The other Skyraiders below swooped up and opened fire on the second Communist plane.

It headed in a 20-degree glide for the Hainan beach but by that time the F4U's were in the act. One of the F4U's screamed in with guns blazing and scored a hit. The Red airplane crashed into the water.

Duncan said there was no chance the Red pilot survived.

Credit for shooting down the second LA7 went to Lt. Cmdr. William H. Alexander, Jamestown, R. I.; Lt. (j.g.) John L. Damian, Encino, Calif.; Lt. (j.g.) Richard S. Ribble, Mountain Lake, N. J.;

Children in New York Solve Problems

Youth Forum Fighting Delinquency, Eases Race Question

NEW YORK (AP)—At first the boys and girls at the East Side youth forum were too shy to talk.

Then, one by one, they rose, and in halting language tinged with the flavor of foreign tongues, spelled out the problems of a crowded, tense New York community.

"WHEN THEY came to the meeting they were enemies," says Sylvia Sethur, who makes a career of getting people together. "When they left they were friends They discovered that everyone had the same problems "

The youth forum is only one of the activities of an experiment in community living — Junior Government This and its parent body, the Coordinating Council, is Mrs Sethur's business and prescription for juvenile delinquency and unrest She explains

"The breakdown of family life is a major cause of trouble with youngsters But youth alone cannot solve its own problems The community family must help young people understand each other "

The Coordinating Council, which in New York is set up by youth patrolmen of police precincts, can be started in any community by any organization, says Mrs. Sethur.

Essentially it is a group composed of representatives of all the schools, religious organizations, clubs and special interest organizations in the community The Council meets, discusses the needs and problems of the youngsters and supervises the setting up of a parallel children's government.

JUNIOR GOVERNMENT is the means by which the boys and girls solve their own problems through discussions, plan dances, forums, athletic events Both the permanent adult council and the youth group carry on their own activities. Mrs Sethur suggests

"Meeting places should be rotated among the belonging organizations The community also should underwrite the expenses of the council, if they really want it to succeed Five dollars a week from each group is a small amount but enough to keep it going "

In her community the groups have helped ease an atmosphere troubled with a changing population, overcrowding and economic difficulties The Coordinating Council has worked for 10 years the youth group was set up a year ago

Mrs Sethur, who lives in the area and has an 18-year-old daughter, works full-time at promoting community relations She started out with a service-minded bank, the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn , which decided its office should be used after hours for neighborhood activities

TWO HUNDRED organizations now come to attractive Mrs Sethur for help She advises on the running of bazaars and meetings helps them raise money gives teas and parties at the bank

As the bank s representative to the Coordinating Council she was instrumental in setting up the youth group and is one of four advisers to the youngsters

Mrs Sethur is convinced that a rebirth of the old town forum on a community level is a major way to combat juvenile delinquency as well as friction between adults

McCarthy

it to be "perfectly clear as to my attitude "

"I shall vote against the motion," Hickenlooper said, adding that there was no charge or specification by Sen Flanders "of any violation of the rules of the Senate or the committee of which he (McCarthy) is the chairman "

Duff Favors Motion

Duff said in advance of the Senate's resumption of debate today that he intends to vote for the motion to censure McCarthy, accused by Flanders of tarring the nation's honor by such conduct that he "can scarcely avoid being called a Fifth Amendment senator "

It was Flanders' action in calling up his censure motion last night, after the Senate had spent most of the day on a foreign aid bill, that touched off a fiery round of debate which kept the legislators in session until 10 15 p m

Flanders' one-sentence resolution offers no penalty against McCarthy, as would an earlier proposal of his to oust the Wisconsin senator from committee chairmanships The motion merely says it is "resolved ' that McCarthy's 'conduct is unbecoming a member of the United States Senate is contrary to senatorial traditions and tends to bring the Senate into disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned "

Duff, asserting that Indochina had fallen to the Reds while America's attention was riveted to the televised McCarthy-Army hearings said in an interview that investigative procedures had got ' off the track "

"It is imperative that the Senate re-establish rules putting this situation under control and drawing definite boundaries that can t be broken " Duff said ' As a preliminary to this I shall vote for the Flanders resolution to express my disapproval of the methods that have been followed "

Objections Praised

While Duff was joining the slim ranks of Republicans publicly committed to striking at McCarthy, Sen Knowland of California, the GOP leader, was sounding praise for objections raised against Flanders' move by Sen Cordon (R) and Morse (Ind), both of Oregon

When Flanders read to the Senate his charges that McCarthy held an 'habitual contempt of people" and had permitted his investigative subcommittee staff members to compromise America abroad, Cordon rose to assert that the Vermont senator's resolution was "not supported on its face by a single allegation of fact '

Cordon said the resolution ought to be sent to a committee for study That would postpone any immediate showdown on the issue — an eventuality that appeared to be welcomed by many senators not inclined to commit themselves in this election year

Morse, who characterized McCarthy s conduct as ' political thuggery " declared the Senate must have specific charges before it such as he said no committee yet had made against McCarthy

As McCarthy sat nearby reading a newspaper, Morse declared

"There are plenty of things on which he (McCarthy) deserves censure but they ought to be set out "

Knowland who had told the Senate it was being asked to condemn a member "without the formal filing of specifications " said in an interview that he believed Cordon and Morse had made ' effective points "

Will Move for Study

Cordon said that if no one else does he will move to send Flanders' resolution to the Judiciary Committee headed by Sen Langer (R-SD), not listed as among McCarthy's admirers

Sen Barrett (R-Wyo) said he thought this might be the solution to a controversy Knowland said will be allowed to run its course "until we see what works out "

McCarthy silent most of the time as Flanders raked his record and Dirksen defended him, made an unsuccessful attempt to force an immediate showdown in what Sen Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) described as "an area of personal disagreement" in the Senate

With his wife smiling from the jam-packed Senate gallery, McCarthy took the floor to demand that Flanders' motion be called up for "action by the Senate " However, Vice President Nixon, presiding, ruled that the issue before the Senate was whether to take up Flanders' motion at all Nixon said McCarthy and Flanders were cooperating toward the same goal a vote on the issue

McCarthy objected to this asserting that there was ' no indication of cooperation" on his part with Flanders

McCarthy, who scribbled notes furiously as Flanders leveled his charges, appeared confident of the outcome He was reported to have insisted in conferences with Republican leaders that they avoid supporting any compromise

Sen Young (R-SD), secretary of the conference of all Republican senators, said he thought McCarthy was justified in being confident

"I think if there is a vote on the Flanders resolution, it will be beaten, 2-1," Young said

This possibility was evidently worrisome to some Democrats who felt that such a result would be widely interpreted as an endorsement of McCarthy's methods

The blink of a human eye can last as long as half a second.

American's Bid To Reach Iron Curtain Fails

LONDON (AP) — Joseph Cort a 26-year-old Boston scientist and his wife were reported headed for political asylum in Red Czechoslovakia today after being kicked out of Britain But at the last minute, the police intercepted the Polish ship on which they sailed

The professed ex-Communist and his wife Ruth 28 were on the freighter Jarowslaw Dabrowski when it left the London docks early this morning port authorities said Before the vessel could leave the Thames Scotland Yard agents ordered it stopped and went aboard

Still Being Held

The ship was still being held there

Police declined to say whether their action concerned the Corts or whether they were checking on reports that a Polish stowaway seeking asylum in Britain was being held on the Jaroslaw Dabrowski against his will

Police and immigration authorities had visited the ship several times while it was at the dock in connection with the persistent stowaway reports They had not attempted to keep the Corts from leaving the country

American officials have wanted Cort, a former student at Harvard and Yale Medical School, back in the United States to question him about his failure to answer a 1953 draft notice

Charging he would be persecuted for having belonged to the Communist party in his student days Cort recently asked for political asylum in England British authorities refused and canceled his residence permit, effective today

The case caused a stir in the House of Commons yesterday when Laborite A Wedgwood Benn protested the young scientists ouster He described him as ' a man whose only offense was that he had been a Communist undergraduate "

Sir Hugh Lucas-Tooth Home Office undersecretary said for the government that Cort ' has never come near to establishing a valid claim to be regarded as a political refugee "

Sir Hugh told the House he felt there was ' really no foundation whatever" for the suggestion Cort might be sent to a U S prison for his Red activities as a student

Observers said if Britain gave Cort asylum she would imply that there is political oppression in the United States

Mayor, Police Issue Order

Galion Firemen Explain Carnival Gambling Ban

GALION — Galion firemen with Capt Joel F Martien as spokesman, gave their side of the picture today in a controversy over gambling at the Hippo Attractions Carnival The carnival operating on Wood St is being sponsored by the firemen who explain that their share of profits is used for the firemen s welfare fund

Mayor Francis Schultz and Police Chief Morris Bowers Thursday afternoon issued a directive banning all gambling devices at the carnival

THIS STEP was taken after a complaint was made by George Davies Galion attorney representing William Ferrell operator of the Tiger Den and Clarence Garberich who is associated with a cigar store

Because of the directive the carnival was closed by the manager Thursday night It was open again Friday night after bingo and other 'chance' games were discontinued

Firemen denied there was gambling at the carnival They said only 'regular' games of 'Pitch 'Till You Win ' Spill the Milk "Upset the Bottles ' and 'Throw Rings etc were played

Firemen said that they felt that the protest procedure on the part of the two businessmen was uncalled for as the show had been advertised for several weeks The firemen said they felt that if such action was intended the firemen should have been notified and the show would have been canceled

"WE HAVE NEVER asked or begged the merchants of Galion for donations for our welfare fund Out of our small profit of the carnival we have purchased a radio, television welder many tools, drills and the like We also use this money for helping with the toy program for needy children at Christmas time ' firemen explained

They also pointed to the fact that boys and girls of the Crawford County Children s Home have always been invited for a matinee to be guests of the firemen and the carnival to ride free as long as they wished

The rides and concessions that are with the carnival are licensed by the State Fair Board to exhibit at county fairs and street fairs and if the state of Ohio doesn t determine this as a gambling concern who should a small group decide this the firemen pointed out

The complaint by Davies stated that gambling was being conducted on the carnival grounds and asked that it be prohibited in light of the recent ban on gambling proclaimed by the mayor and police chief This was followed by the directive

Police officers going to the carnival grounds stopped a bingo game that was in progress The carnival manager then notified Capt Martien at the fire department that the carnival could not operate with the ban in effect

Sheppard Attack

His story — repeated a week ago in long hours of testimony at a coroner s inquest — has been that he fell asleep on a downstairs couch awakened when his wife screamed and ran upstairs He said he saw a 'white form ' and immediately was knocked out He recovered grappled with a bushy-haired man on the narrow Lake Erie beach back of the Sheppard home, and once again was knocked out

Mrs Sheppard s interest in golf has given police an idea for finding a murder weapon She played golf two days before her death Her golf bag no longer contains a No 9 iron the type used to blast out of a trap Detectives said the No 9 iron was the sort of club that could have caused the deep gashes in Mrs Sheppard s head

A hearing was set for a week from today

The procedure in the Bay Village Hall last night was brief After the charge had been read Dr Sheppard entered his plea and the village law director, Richard S Weygandt asked a continuance to permit preparation of this case.

Nabbed at Father's Home

Dr Sheppard had been picked up at the home of his father Dr Richard Sheppard Sr next door to Bay View Hospital The elder Sheppard and three sons are on the staff there and Miss Hayes formerly worked there

The acting mayor closed the arraignment by ordering the doctor held in the county jail

Shortly after midnight, one of Dr Sheppard s attorneys William J Corrigan appeared at the county jail and asked to see him The attorney was told No attorneys are allowed in here after 7 p m "

Dr Sheppard removed the leather collar before being placed in a solitary cell containing only a bunk and an iron bench

The arrest was made only a few minutes after Weygandt had issued a statement to reporters saying the available evidence justified a murder charge

Cause for Arrest

He said ' The evidence which I have reviewed is of such weight that in my opinion there is probable cause to believe Dr Sam Sheppard guilty of the murder of his wife

The doctor, wearing a pair of blue denim pants given him at the jail and a white T shirt slept soundly last night on an Army cot in his four-by eight foot cell said jail Joseph Yusko

Yusko said three guards took turns watching the prisoner

He awoke at 5 15 a m breakfasted on corn flakes and coffee and then went back to sleep Yusko added

Cleveland Police Chief Frank Story sent two physicians — Dr George S Greene and Dr Spencer Braden — to examine Dr Sheppard and said

' We want to be sure Dr Sheppard is normal and well when we start questioning him '

Corrigan , talked with his client in the morning and said he would file a writ of habeas corpus asking that he be freed Corrigan contended his client was innocent and had been arrested illegally He held the warrant was issued by an unauthorized person

The warrant was issued by Acting Mayor Barber and signed by Bay Village Police Chief John P Eaton

Since the AAA organized School Safety Patrols in New York state 28 years ago, auto registrations rose 173 per cent Traffic deaths among children between five and 14 years of age, however, were reduced 62 per cent.

Majority Leader Knowland contended the section was "a desirable emergency weapon for use if we can't meet our needs for strategic materials "

Cleveland Dumps Nats as Yankees Bow to Orioles

Hegan, Doby Power Tribe To Verdict, 10th for Art

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Hegan and Larry Doby, longtime fixtures in the Cleveland lineup, provided the big scenes last night in the Indians' impressive 8-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

Catcher Hegan drove in four runs, two on a double and two on a homer. Centerfielder Doby made a spectacular catch of Tom Umphlett's bid for a homer, leaping against the left field fence and injuring a shoulder in the process, and then powered a successful homer himself his next time at bat.

Also playing a major part in the triumphant opener of a four-game series with the Senators were Al Rosen, who doubled in two runs, and Art Houtteman, who pitched shutout ball after Washington nicked him for three runs in the first inning.

The victory widened the league-leading Indians' pennant margin to 2½ games as the New York Yankees lost to Baltimore's Orioles, 10-0.

Roy Sievers was the biggest threat from Washington as he hit his 17th homer to drive in two of his squad's three runs. Dean Stone, chased by a five-run rally in the second, was the losing pitcher.

Hegan appears well on the way to his most successful season in the majors. His top homer total is 14, a mark he reached in both 1949 and 1950. His runs-batted-in peak was 61 in 1949 and his best batting average was .249 in 1947.

His homer in the sixth inning last night was his ninth of the year, and his four RBI's increased his season's tally to 34. As for batting averages, his current .257 is comfortably ahead of his 1947 record.

Doby's homer was his 21st of the season and came in the fifth inning. Together he and Al Rosen are producing runs at a greater pace than they were a year ago.

Doby has simply taken up where Rosen slacked off and the pair has a total of 150 runs batted in as compared with 143 last year.

Bob Lemon goes to the mound for the Tribe today, bidding for his 13th victory. His opponent will be Frank Shea, who won a game last week after losing eight in a row. Mike Garcia and Early Wynn probably will face Bob Porterfield and Johnny Schmitz in tomorrow's doubleheader.

Giants Stop Reds, Boost NL Margin

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants almost had a "foul" night against the Cincinnati Reds last night, three of their long balls striking the foul poles at the Polo Grounds for home runs.

Four home runs in all blasted the Reds, 8-1, and enabled the Giants to sweeten their lead over Brooklyn to three full games in the National League race.

Wes Westrum's homer in the third connected with the left field foul pole near the roof. Don Mueller's sixth inning homer struck the right-field pole. Hank Thompson's roundtripper in the same inning with one aboard hit the same object a few feet above the roof.

Only pitcher Ruben Gomez's four bagger—the first he's hit in the majors — landed cleanly in the stands. He drove the ball deep in the upper left deck. His blow with one teammate on base was enough for the victory, his ninth in 16 decisions.

All four of the big smashes, plus one of the two Giant singles, were off starter and loser Fred Baczewski, whose record dropped to 5-6. He let down his guard too often. For example, with two down and a man on first, Baczewski fired a "nothing pitch" down the middle to Ruben.

Gomez, who throws one of the best screwballs in the game, permitted only two Reds to get past first base. But Jim Greengrass stopped his shutout in the eighth, smacking a 450-foot triple over the head of Willie Mays, and scoring on an infield out.

The Reds dropped to fifth place, a game behind the St. Louis Cardinals. It was the third defeat in four games in the East for the Reds and their sixth straight Polo Grounds loss.

After the fourth of Baczewski's gopher balls, Manager Birdie Tebbetts assigned Jackie Collum, who set down the Giants in the last third of the sixth and all of the seventh. He gave way for a pinch-hitter and to Joe Nuxhall, who allowed one harmless hit in the eighth.

The righthanded New York pitcher mixed a blinding fast ball with his screwball and permitted only four Cincinnatians to get to first base in the first six innings.

LONG MAN, SHORT BED. Indiana University's famed basketball center, Don Schlundt, finds his hospital bed in Bloomington, Ind., a bit short for his 6-foot, 10-inch frame. He's recovering from an appendectomy. Pillows have been stuffed onto the foot of the bed to ease the situation.

Cleveland Girl Makes Bid for Women's Title

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — School teachers Claire Doran of Cleveland and Beverly Gammon of St Paul, Minn., were matched for 36 holes today in the Women's Western Amateur Golf Championship at Broadmoor Country Club.

Miss Doran, Curtis Cup team member, was a heavy favorite over the 23-year-old Minnesota blonde, who never before had advanced so far in a national tourney.

In the pretty Miss Gammon's only previous shot at a big trophy, she lost to Betty Jameson in the first round of this year's women's Western Open, 2 and 1.

The 1953 Minnesota state champion was overlooked in the Western Amateur after qualifying with a 7-over-par 82, but she has chilled her match opponents with robot-like play.

She took out Barbara McIntire of Toledo, Ohio, 1952 Western Junior champion, in yesterday's semifinals, 2 and 1, while Miss Doran was defeating Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Rutland, Vt., by the same score.

Few Changes in Flag Races Take Place in July Action

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Only four of the 16 major league clubs gained ground in the pennant races in July, but neither the New York Giants nor the Cleveland Indians were able to strengthen their first place positions.

The Indians, in fact, have lost half a game of the edge they held 30 days ago. The New York Yankees, one of the four clubs which improved, replaced Chicago as Cleveland's closest pursuer and moved from four games behind to 2, pending today's action.

The Giants sailed into July leading Brooklyn by three lengths. On the last day of the month they still are three in front of the Dodgers.

The major change in the National League standings involved third place Philadelphia, third a month ago, won only 10 of 30 games and skidded all the way to sixth. Milwaukee pulled up from fourth, 12 games back, to third, only nine games behind the Giants.

The Braves represent a threat of unknown proportions. They ran their current winning streak to eight last night when a solid 9-5, triumph over Brooklyn and have three more games with the Dodgers and three with the Giants coming up in the next 10 days.

St. Louis moved from sixth to fourth but doesn't figure to go much higher. Boston pulled up from last to sixth in the American League with five games separating the Red Sox from first division.

Cleveland and the Giants both made headway last night. The Indians whipped Washington 8-3, while the Yankees were being trounced 10-0 at Baltimore. The Giants defeated Cincinnati 6-1 with all the New York runs coming on homers and Brooklyn lost at home to Milwaukee for the fifth time in six games.

In other action St Louis tripped the stumbling Phillies 12-3; Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs split a pair with the Pirates winning the first 8-6 and losing the second 8-5; the Chicago White Sox pushed the Philadelphia Athletics into the American League cellar with a 4-3 decision and Detroit whipped Boston 4-0.

Milwaukee spotted Brooklyn three runs in the first inning, then got them all back with plenty to spare as Carl Erskine lost his stuff after three hitless innings. Danny O'Connell hit a three-run homer, Joe Adcock hit into the seats with one aboard and the Braves were off. Ernie Johnson, who took over from Bob Buhl with two out and four runs home in the first, chilled the Dodgers on two singles the rest of the way.

The Giants got power hitting from unexpected sources in their victory over Cincinnati. Pitcher Ruben Gomez drove in two with a blast into the leftfield seats, his first of the year, and Don Mueller hit his second homer of the season. Wes Westrum and Hank Thompson also homered, but Willie Mays, who leads the league with 36, had to settle for a scratch single.

The Cardinals' hitting spree at Philadelphia included a bases-loaded triple by catcher Bill Sarni and a double and triple by pitcher Harvey Haddix who posted his 15th victory. Rip Repulski homered for the Cards.

Ralph Kiner walked twice in the Pittsburgh doubleheader and each time Chicago slugger Hank Sauer drove him in with a home run, running his season's total to 32. Frank Thomas collected four hits in the Pirate's first game success.

Art Houtteman, one of the best of Cleveland's "second line" pitchers, won his 10th game as Indians rallied for five runs in the second inning and routed Washington rookie Dean Stone. Jim Hegan drove in four of the Indian runs.

The Yankees got their first look at Baltimore's new lights and they didn't like what they saw. They did much better when they couldn't see so much since they had won four of five night games in Baltimore until last night's fiasco. Bob Kennedy hit a grand slam home run and drove in two other runs as the Orioles broke Allie Reynolds' 10-game winning streak.

Anglers To Receive Chance at Hooking Trout at Ten Fairs

Crawford and Delaware County will be among at least 10 Ohio fairs to which public trout fishing tanks along with thousands of rainbow and brook trout will be taken this year.

It is being done by the Licking Springs Trout Club of Newark in answer to the many requests of several Ohio Fair Boards as an added attraction. It marks the first time in the history of Ohio fairs that public fishing has been set up.

The tanks will allow 100 anglers to fish for the trout at one time. A nominal fee is made for 12 minutes of trout fishing and each angler takes home his catch. There is no limit as to the number of trout taken.

The catch is checked on the spot and the fish are wrapped and quick frozen and will be ready to be picked up by the angler when he starts home. A fresh supply of trout is brought in daily to assure the tanks are well stocked at all times.

The public fishing will be available at the Ohio State Fair and at fairs at Delaware, Bucyrus, Carthage, Lancaster, Dayton, Chillicothe and Coshocton.

Playoff Games Set For City Teen and Pony League Titles

City Teen and Pony League championship games were announced today by the Marion Baseball for Boys Commission.

The games to settle the first round Pony League championship and the Teen League city championship are scheduled Sunday night, Aug. 7, at Lincoln Park.

The games were originally set for tomorrow night but postponed to next Sunday.

Alloy and G & G Homes, which tied for the first half Pony League championship with 7-2 marks, will open action at 6 p.m.

Then in the second game, Marion's Indians and the Fraternal Order of Police nine will open best two-out-of-three games series for the city teen chamionship.

The U. S. postal savings system with deposits of $2,341,000,000 is the world's largest savings bank, says the National Geographic Society.

G&G and Alloy Capture Wins In Pony Action

G & G Homes edged VFW 9-8 while Alloy trimmed Clark Metal 13-5 in Pony League play, at Lincoln Park last night.

A tally in the eighth inning enabled G & G Homes to nip VFW. A hit and two errors figured in the score as Bob Lister, third of three G & G hurlers, received credit for the win.

The winners had jumped off to an early lead with two runs in the first, four in the second, and one in each of the next two innings but then were forced to win the game in extra innings.

VFW netted single runs in each of the first two frames, got four in the third, and then scored once in the fifth and once in the sixth to deadlock the score.

Jim Anspaugh was the G & G starter but he gave way to Bob Middleton in the fifth, who in turn was relieved by Lister in the seventh.

The trio of hurlers allowed only seven hits while striking out nine, walking five and hitting a batter. Gene Remmy was the starting VFW hurler and was replaced by Steve Flesher in the eighth. The pair of hurlers allowed 11 hits. They fanned 10 and walked three.

Joe Welty had three hits for the winners while Bob Smiley and Anspaugh both had two bingles apiece. Bob Claypool, Ted Anderson, Lister and Tom White got the others. Remmy had two of VFW's seven hits, one a triple, while Flesher, Frank Grace, Bob Merriman, Mike Chamberlain and Ronnie Keck collected the others. Flesher's safety was also a three-bagger.

Alloy scored eight runs in the fifth inning of its tilt with Clark Metal to clinch the victory.

Clark Metal led 5-4 up to the fifth by virtue of three runs in the first, one in the third and one in the fourth. Alloy had scored four runs in the third. But Larry Jay settled down to hold the losers to no runs and one hit over the last three frames while Alloy scored eight times in the fifth and once in the sixth.

Jay allowed Clark Metal only six hits over the seven-inning route, fanning five while walking seven. Dan Watt was the Clark Metal starter, with Mike Glasco coming on in the fifth.

The Clark Metal twirlers were touched for 12 hits as they fanned 10, walked six and hit a batsman.

Joe Ambrose, Everett Rice, Vaughn Williams, Jay and Bill Robbins all knocked out two hits each for the winners while Richard Gallimore and Armbuster chipped in with a hit apiece. One of Rice's hits was a three-master. Bob Klingel had two hits including a triple for the losers with Watt, Ted Lindsay, Ross Morbitt and Bruce McClain contributing a safety each.

Indianapolis Hikes Association Margin

By The Associated Press

Hopes that some team in the American Association might be able to make a strong bid for the pennant against Indianapolis looked bleaker than ever today.

Both the second and third-place clubs, Louisville and Kansas City, dropped back.

Louisville fell victim to a six-run ninth inning Indianapolis rally and lost the league-leaders, 8-7. Kansas City bowed to Toledo, 10-7.

The rest of the schedule, Columbus at St. Paul and Charleston at Minneapolis in twi-night doubleheaders, was rained out.

NORM McATEE RELEASED

TROY, Ohio (AP)—General Manager Ken Wilson has announced the release of Norm McAtee as coach of the Troy Bruins in the International Hockey League. Wilson said no successor has been named, but four or five men are being considered. McAtee is employed at a Troy factory. He says his plans for the coming hockey season are indefinite.

Vance, Wilhelm Win Finales in Little Leagues

Vance and Wilhelm pounded out National League victories as regularly scheduled Little League play concluded last night at Robert Scott Field.

Vance, National loop pennant winners, trimmed Hinton 9-4 while Wilhelm, league runner-up, edged Osgood 2-1.

Martin Flournoy and Larry Saunders hurled Vance to the opening game win. Flournoy was the starter for the winners with Saunders taking over pitching chores in the third, Joe Ansley started for Hinton but was replaced on the mound in the second by Tom Prichard.

Tight pitching by Harl "Rocky" Evans and a pair of home runs enabled Wilhelm to nip Osgood in the nightcap.

Evans, who hooked up in a mound duel with Stu Flesher of Osgood, allowed only two hits. Vance Creviston and John Keller gave him all the margin he needed by socking solo blasts off Flesher, who gave up five hits.

Creviston knocked his out of the park in the fourth, Keller hit his inside the park. Both hurlers fanned 14 batters.

Vance was the National League winner with a 13-5 mark while Wilhelm was second with 11-7. Then came Hinton, 9-9, and Osgood, 3-15.

Mount Victory Outdoor Club Planning Ox Roast

An ox roast sponsored by the Indian Summer Sportsman's Club of Mount Victory will be held Saturday, Aug. 7 at Mount Victory's school grounds.

According to William R. Allen, treasurer of the group, the event will start at 4:30 p.m. and the public is invited. Proceeds will go toward the cost of construction of a 12-acre recreation lake near Mount Victory. The club sponsored and built, last December, a lake east of Mount Victory on the Philip Battles farm.

New Kitchens Made To Save Time and Steps

Some of the most striking exhibits seen in Chicago at the tenth annual exposition of the National Association of Home Builders were modern, streamlined kitchens, designed to save the homemaker time and steps in preparing the family's three square meals a day.

Kitchen planning has become an exact science, and no room in the home of today has been so completely revolutionized both in appearance and function, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Before some of the nation's most experienced talent in designing tackled the problem of making it both pleasanter to work in and more useful, the kitchen in many a home presented a sorry sight. All too often it had a cluttered look due to poor arrangement of appliances and equipment, was ill-lighted, and hard to work in. Keeping it clean at all times was another problem vexing to the average housewife.

Contrast that with the modern kitchen where everything is well-arranged and conveniently at hand, making it a pleasure to work in and easy to keep shipshape. The center of food preparation in the kitchen is, of course, in the sink with its flanking countertops extending in a straight line to right and left. In a well-planned kitchen, the range, refrigerator, and automatic dishwasher are installed so that the housewife has the fewest possible steps to travel between them and the sink when getting meals ready for cleaning up after them.

Modern sinks of both single and double bowl type with generous draining surfaces come in soft pastel colors — gray, ivory, blue, yellow, maroon, green, suntan, and pink — or the ever-popular white. Hose and spray attachment for dishwashing is optional, but all sinks are fitted with chromium-plated brass faucets, and a combination drain and crumb strainer.

Some kitchens combine the food preparation and dining areas with the home laundry, all in a compact arrangement designed to make the best use of available space. Numerous built-ins are provided for concealing appliances and storing miscellaneous items of equipment.

First Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: Should a quarter round molding be nailed to the baseboard or floor in order to close up the space at this point?

A: It is a very good way to close the open joint. It would be best to drive long finishing nails at an and angle through the opening itself between the baseboard and flooring into the timbers behind. Fastening the molding in this manner will allow movement in the baseboard as well as the floor and still keep the joint closed.

Q: Last summer I insulated the attic and carried the insulation over the air space between the inner and outer wall on both the north and south walls. In the north wall all last winter there was continuous sweating and I am at a loss to understand why. I'd like to correct this before cold weather sets in again.

A: Evidently there is no ventilation or there is not enough. When insulation is placed in the attic floor, the space above it should be thoroughly ventilated all year round. In other words, the ventilating louvers should be placed as high up in the gable ends as possible and at least one square foot of louver opening should be allowed for each 300 square feet of attic floor space.

Q: I have a bay window with a hardwood base for placing house plants. There are a few water stains on it. Can you tell me what will remove the white spots?

A: If the finish is shellac, the white spots can be taken off by wiping with denatured alcohol. To remove the discoloration from a varnished surface, try rubbing with turpentine or camphorated oil. Should this fail, rub lightly with finely pulverized pumice and light oil on a piece of felt. Rub with the grain of the wood and use no more than four or five strokes at a time in any one spot. Wipe off the oil and polish with paste wax. In some cases, stain may be deep and only a refinishing job will give satisfactory results.

Q: I am ready to paint my new plaster walls which have been allowed to dry out for about a year. What type of material would you use?

A: If there are any grease or oil spots in the plaster, they must be removed first. This can be done in the following manner — over each spot apply a thick layer of a paste mixture of powdered whiting and a noninflammable liquid spot remover. Allow this to remain until dry, then brush off the powder. More than one treatment will be necessary for deep stains. If you contemplate using an oil base paint, the plaster should first be given a coat of primer sealer. The walls can then be finished with a flat wall paint except the bathroom and kitchen. These rooms should be finished with enamel. When resin-emulsion or rubber-base wall paints are used, the coat of primer sealer can be omitted.

Growing Pains

Suggestions for Planting Iris Given to Gardeners

By ALBERT S. FULLING
Associated Press Writer

A perennially favorite theme is the underdog who triumphs: the unlucky thoroughbred condemned to haul a junk wagon but is rescued from drudgery and trained by loving care to win the big race against all odds . . . the ugly duckling that becomes a swan . . .

This rags to riches dissertation concerns a few dozen Iris plants destined for a neighbor's rubbish heap. "I paid a lot of money for them," he grumbled, "but they didn't put out a flower and I think they're diseased besides."

They indeed were a sorry looking lot. The leaf sheaths were yellow instead of green; the rhizomes were undernourished, but appeared sound. He ignored suggestions on rescuing them. "If you want them, take 'em," he shrugged, "but you'll be wasting your time."

More for the exeriment than with any optimism, I took them.

—:—

IRIS WANT a lot of sun, good soil, good drainage and fertilizer.

The perennial border was the logical place for the experiment. They were placed in staggered clumps, some in front and some toward the rear of the border.

The locations, triangularly spotted, were spaded to about 10 inches deep, and the soil in the bottom of the hole loosened. With about two thirds of the loose soil, I mixed a trowel full of balanced fertilizer, a generous sprinkling of ground limestone, another of bone meal and a good quantity of peat moss.

—:—

ALL THIS was filled into the hole, then the top third with soil so that the roots would not touch the fertilizer. On each mound, a rhizome was set, toes toward the center of a triangle, spreading the roots carefully. More unfertilized soil was placed to anchor and to hold the leaf fan upright. The leaf fans were cut back to about seven inches, upright. With a clump of three firmed down, a canvas soil soaker was set in a circle around the planting, and water run until the ground was well watered. The other clumps got the same treatment.

Some gardeners prefer more fans to a clump, but three served the purpose well. The distance between should be not less than a yard.

For the rest of the season, the plants were closely watched to see that the fans remained upright and the roots well covered.

During the winter, occasional checks were made to see that freezing and thawing did not heave them out of the ground. During the winter also, the area around the clumps was spread with wood ashes from the fireplace.

Came spring, and the Iris flourished as if they were in a growing competition. In June they put on a blooming show that knocked my neighbor for a loop. He marveled at the "green thumb" —which was no more than following the rules.

IRIS PLANTING or replanting time is at hand. They drowse awhile after blooming, but in late summer, they start getting ready for next sring. They fatten up their rhizomes and grow new leaves, as well as form next year's flowers.

The happy ending of the typical rags to riches story is the reward —the Iris gained beauty, I gained Iris, and my neighbor eventually got his Iris back. Not the same ones, but divisions of the originals he had assgined to the rubbish heap.

STEADY SCHOLAR

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (UP) — Police said a 14-year-old boy stole an automobile at nearby Westport and used it to drive back and forth to school.

Cabin of Ships Yield Storage Space Secrets

Centuries-old secrets of ship's cabin compactness are being borrowed today for family room storage walls.

The theory is that the popularity of the family room increases in direct ratio to the ease with which every member of the family can find his own particular lazy-time gear. Maximum storage in a minimum of space is the key, and where can you find more efficiently designed storage space than in a ship's cabin?

These landlubber's lockers must be flexible enough to fit into any corner or odd space in the family room, especially into sometimes lost areas adjacent to fireplaces. They can be built of west coast hemlock or some other softwood which can be readily cut to fit available space. Another advantage of hemlock is that drawer fronts, sliding doors, cabinet doors and other exposed portions can all be made out of the same material.

Natural wood finishes which bring out the texture and grain and beautiful soft sunny colorings help create the informality so essential in the family's playtime room. Most of this finishing is easy to do.

The wood panel boards should be carefully sanded and buffed either before they are installed or immediately afterwards. Then a filler should be applied and sanded. Several coats of varnishes or rez can be added to create as deep a patina as desired; make sure the surface is sanded smooth after each varnish coat has thoroughly dried. A final application of clear wax will give a beautiful glossy finish which will make the landlubber's locker one of the lovliest fixtures in the home.

Many people ask how many shelves, cabinets, drawers and compartments they should have in their family room storage units. The answer is simple. Each unit should be designed especially to care for the storage needs of the particular family.

If you use your projection equipment very much, you may wish to build in your screen so that it can be pulled down like a shade from the top of the cabinet, and your projector should have its own compartment, preferably with a cabinet-type door.

Children's games and play gear should be stored in special shelving near the floor level and should always have a door to conceal the compartment which is generally in a state of disorder. More valuable adult equipment, like chessmen, poker chips, cards, even bottle goods, can be placed in upper compartments, and locks or secret panel releases can be used for privacy.

You can design storage space for golf clubs, baseball and tennis equiment. Even gun storage space can be built into one of these multi-purpose cabinets. Decorative plan should be restful and quiet, and many times the natural wood toned walls and cabinets alone solve the decorating problem.

More Demand For Baseboard Heating System

Baseboard heating, which sends up a comforting blanket of warmth at the perimeter of a house to meet the cold where it comes in, continues to gain in popularity with the nation's leading home builders, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Further indication of the growing trend to baseboards was provided at the tenth annual convention and exposition of the National Association of Home Builders in Chicago, where the related experiences of representative volume builders confirmed the power of this new and improved type of hot water heating.

Manufacturers showed the latest developments in the baseboard heating units they produce for residential, commercial and industrial installations.

Baseboard heating units, installed along the base of the wall, are of two types — cast iron and finned-tube. The cast iron units have fins that are integral with the casting itself. The fins provide the maximum in heating surface for the constantly circulating room air which passes through the baseboard on an average of four times an hour, emerging as a rising curtain of warmth against cold outside walls and windows. Additional heat is radiated at ankle height to keep floors warm.

In the finned-tube type of baseboard, the heating element is concealed by a furniture steel enclosure with openings at top and bottom for the circulation of warm air by convection as it passes through the unit. In both cast iron and finned tube type baseboards, heat is provided by hot boiler water circulated under thermostatic control. The heating element of a finned-tube baseboard consists of hot water piping surrounded by copper, steel, or aluminum fins.

Baseboard heat is clean, even, draftless. So even is the heat distribution in a baseboard-heated room that no more than a degree or two differential exists between temperatures at floor and ceiling levels.

Two Methods Advised In Attacking Poison Ivy

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — A University of Wisconsin agronomist recommends two ways to destroy poison ivy and warns against a common method of routing the vine.

George Briggs says use ammate if the ivy is in with plants you don't want to kill. If the poison ivy is alone you can use 2,4-D, which is less effective, but cheaper.

He warns those who burn poison ivy to avoid the fumes. The smoke can give you a case of poisoning especially if you've been perspiring.

Handyman Can Improve Kitchen Area

Covering of Countertops Simplified by Use of Plastic Board

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

A modern kitchen is so dear to a woman's heart that many new houses are sold in the kitchen.

The builders install an array of the latest equipment—dishwasher, automatic range, refrigerator, sleek cabinets and a spectacular sweep of seamless colorful countertops. Well, what chance does a mere man have to examine construction while his wife is in a daze in that kitchen?

Take heart, men, if you're handy. You can give the little lady a kitchen like that in your own house and keep her in love with the place and with you. Of course, it takes a little doing and a little wherewithall, but it can be a lot cheaper than buying a new house in order to get a new kitchen.

YOU PROBABLY know fellows who built their own knotty pine kitchen cabinets and had them turn out fine. If such cabinet work is beyond you, consider steel kitchen cabinets already enameled as slick as a refrigerator. She doesn't like white? Spray paint them, as you would paint your car, or take them to an auto body works and have them sprayed marine-cherry or mountain sea shell, or whatever color she must have.

We happen to know a couple of men who installed their own mail order dishwashers. Their local plumbing supply houses helped them out with an assortment of couplings, unions, elbows and other fittings giving them credit for what they didn't need. This is a do-it-yourself age, you know.

But when it comes to those smart plastic countertops, you may feel stumped. It's an expensive job to have them fitted tightly around the sink and trimmed with chrome around all edges. You've been told, perhaps, that you can do it, but you wonder about the hazards involved.

Most of the plastic laminates used for these modern countertops are rigid sheets which you cement to a plywood underlayment. The plywood surface is sanded smooth; adhesive is spread evenly over the entire surface; the laminate, cut to fit, is carefully laid in place and pressed down with a rolling pin. Then the edges are trimmed and chromium molding is put on.

NEW THIN plastic covering for countertops is curved to make it lie flat under tension from metal trim.

NOW THERE'S a new product on the market to make this job a little simpler. It is a plastic board composed of synthetic resins and paper. It comes in a thickness of one-tenth of an inch and is slightly curved for tension. The importance of the curve is that it eliminates the usual need for lamination on the plywood base by adhesives. The surface is held in place by its own spring tension when forced and held by metal edging.

You can use standard metal moldings made for any eighth-inch material or for standard gauge linoleum. Any unevenness of the under-surface is filled with a special mastic and a strip of the mastic about 12 inches wide is smeared down the middle, ending about 6 inches from each end. The rest of the sheet is held by tension.

Developed by one of the biggest paper companies, this material is chemically inert and impervious to water. But material under it, such as plywood, wallboard, plaster or linoleum, must be protected from moisture. So thorough calking around molding edges is called for.

You can handle these sheets with ordinary tools—a fine tooth saw, a file or a plane. One of the big advantages is the ease with which the material can be placed over a spoiled countertop.

—:—

THERE'S ONE THING to remember about all plastic laminates, however—at least, all we have seen—and that is, don't place a hot pan on them, or let the rays of an electric broiler radiate directly on them. Some salesmen like to show how such plastics are not harmed by a burning cigarette butt, and some are not. But a hot pan is something else. It can cause the surface to buckle, or worse. Keep pans on the stove.

Ohio Construction Awards Below '53 Total, Dodge Says

CLEVELAND—Contract awards for future construction in Ohio according to Dodge Reports had a six month figure of $744,263,000 or 14 per cent below six months 1953, it was stated by F. W. Dodge Corporation regional vice - President Carl S. Bennett.

Ohio surpassed all other big-total states including Illinois, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Individual six-month classifications compared with the like period 1953 were nonresidential, $262,414,000, down 44 per cent; residential, $342,446,000, up 15 per cent; heavy engineering, $139,403,000, up 30 per cent.

The June total was $123,458 000, down 25 per cent from May and 12 per cent below June 1953.

Individual June totals were: nonresidential, $34,559,000, down 26 per cent orfm May and 45 per cent below June 1953; residential, $63,172,000, down 22 per cent from May but 35 per cent above June 1953; heavy engineering, $25,727,000, down 32 per cent from May and 17 per cent elow June 1953.

Association for Homeless Formed in New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (UP) — Women unable to find homes for their families are organizing into the New Zealand Homeless Association with branches in Wellington, Auckland and Christchurch.

Mrs. P. Miles, organizer of the group, said the association adopted three resolutions to present to the New Zealand government:

That immigration be curtailed until housing needs of people already in the country are satisfied; no more homes be taken over as shops, factories and offices; courts no longer issue eviction orders "to throw women and children into the streets without accomodations."

Decorative Finish

Shrubbery Adds Color, Coziness to Garden Lots

Shrubs are to a garden what curtains and drapes are to the home interior—a decorative finish for color, warmth, coziness and privacy.

The garden without shrubs is incomplete and unsatisfactory, both from the aesthetic and functional point of view.

Shrubs fill the gap between tall trees and flowers, and give living green substance and flower color to boundary line screens. Once established, they give beauty without too much bother.

They are of infinite variety, and can be chosen according to the climate in which you live.

—:—

SOME SHRUBS bear flowers, then fruits, which the birds like. That encourages the birds to stay around and make your garden a gay place.

Choosing shrubs is a matter of taste. Look over your nearest nursery, or consult a catalogue. A typical initial order for many areas could include a double flowering mock orange, snowberry, Carolina rhodedendron, French lilac, bitter sweet or azelia mollis.

But in dealing with a mail order house, sometimes there's a difference between what you want and what you get, due to several circumstances.

I've bought from two mail order houses at attractive bargain prices, and they did a remarkably good job. But shipping costs were extra. With balled and burlapped items, there was little or no saving over buying from a good local nurseryman.

IN TWO instances there were substitutions.

One was due to adverse weather conditions at the mail order house locale. The second was that they were out of the particular item I ordered, and sent the next best thing in order of choice. I appreciated the thought, but by buying locally, I could see what I was getting.

A double mock orange sent from a mail order house bore beautiful flowers and was picture book pretty, but turned out to be the scentless variety.

One disappointment was of my own doing. It was an azelia mollis, which although handsome, was not evergreen.

—:—

IN CHOOSING from a mail order catalogue, make your choice, then double check with a good garden book on the nature of the plant and its adaptation to your locality and soil. Take the trouble to get the specific and scientific name of what you want—else you may get another variety of the same species.

Bittersweet, for instance, is a name applied to two very different shrubs. One type will not produce berries unless you have both male and female plants.

After you get shrubs in hand, whether by mail or locally, there's the planting.

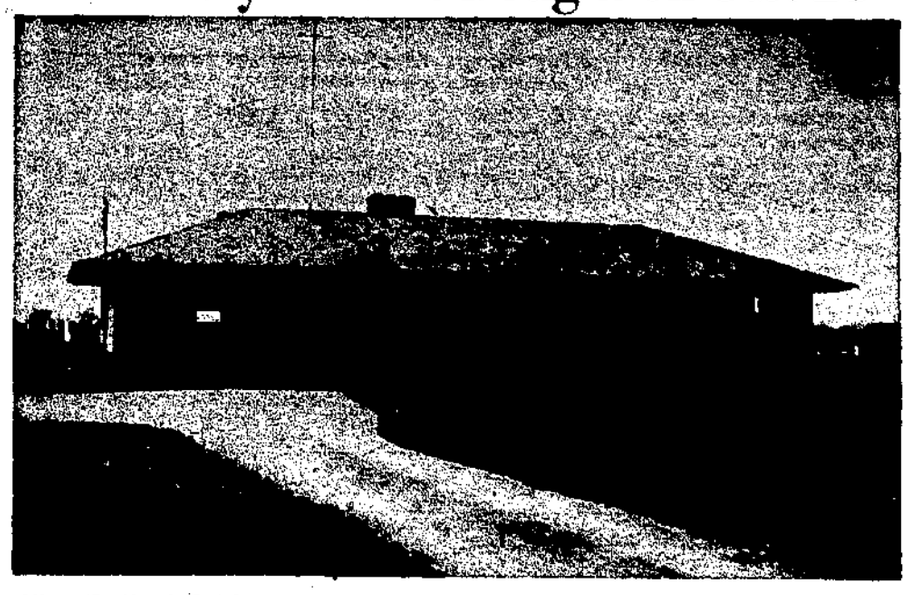
FIRST DIG up and lay aside the topsoil then dig the undersoil and put it in a different place. Don't dig a 50 cent hole for a $5 plant. Dig a generous sized hole to accomodate the root system. Put in some fertilizer and mix it well with the topsoil.

Set your shrub, fill in some more of the top soil, water in well. Let the water absorb, then water again and let it soak in. Then fill in the rest of the topsoil, and add the subsoil last. Leave a bowl-like rain-catcher atop.

The best time to plant or transplant is on an overcast day. If that kind of day and your free time don't coincide, don't worry. Just try to pick a day when the weather is on the coolish side, and the winds are moderate.

Ranch Style Home Bought on U.S. 23



MR. AND MRS. L. R. REYNOLDS recently purchased this ranch style home on U. S. 23, four miles south of Marion, from Mr. and Mrs. Ben L. Bruce. With three bedrooms and tile bath, the home is in the $20,000 to $24,000 class. The home also has a picture frame fireplace in the living room, step-saving kitchen, full basement and attached garage. The transaction was handled by Mrs. Stella Sommer of the Service Realty Co.

Bus Firm To Operate Under New Agreement

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The Hamilton Transit Co. will take over operation of the Hamilton City Bus Lines tomorrow under a five-year franchise.

The company's agreement with the city provides for a cost-of-service arrangement, under which the company will increase and decrease rates according to gross revenue and a 5 per cent net profit goal.

Fares now in effect will be continued by Hamilton Transit. Adults pay 15 cents cash or five tokens for 65 cents; children from 6 to 12 pay 10 cents, with school tokens at the rate of five for 35 cents. There is no charge for transfers.

Dog Escapes Rainstorm With Free Ride on Bus

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Two transit company employes got an unlooked-for reward because of a stubborn dog that had enough sense to get in out of the rain.

The dog, a boxer, boarded a bus during a rainstorm in the suburbs and refused to leave or be pushed out. When the bus got to a midtown intersection, the driver, Mathias M. Becker, asked the bus supervisor, Daniel Shannon, what he should do.

The bus was empty of human passengers by then. Shannon told Becker to return to the corner where the boxer hopped aboard. He did, and there the dog got off.

The boxer's owner learned what happened and telephoned the transit company to thank the men. Then the Erie County Society against Vivisection heard of the incident and mailed Becker and Shannon each a $5 check for their "humanitarianism."

An American man of 65 can expect an average of about 13 more years of life and a woman about 15½ years.

Airport Funds Get Okay of Senate Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee today was reported to have approved 22 million dollars for federal aid to airports in the fiscal year that started July 1.

A like amount for the program was included in a supplemental appropriations bill passed by the House. The airport aid funds were disapproved by the House Appropriations Committee but were restored by the House itself.

The Senate committee has completed action on its version of the bill, but has not yet reported details. A committee source said, however, that committee approved the airport aid money included in the House bill.

Rep. Polk (D-Ohio) said Portsmouth, Ohio, would get a substantial amount of aid for the Scioto County Airport if the measure becomes law.

Polk told a reporter the Commerce Department has been unable to say what share of the 22-million-dollar fund would go to the Scioto Airport, but said he expects the allocation to be sufficient to get work started on the field.

Local sources raised $400,000 for the airport by issuing bonds, he said. He added a similar amount is sought from the federal government, but repeated that he is not certain the full amount would be available this year under terms of the pending bill.

But, he said, the Scioto County Airport is a prime applicant for federal aid since it would be located comparatively near the big atomic plant under construction between Portsmouth and Chillicothe, Ohio. There is no adequate airport in the area now, he said.

Polk said the site for the airport, a plateau above flood danger, has been purchased with receipts from the bond issue.

Zanesville Steelworkers Get 5-Cent Pay Increase

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — An agreement concluded here gives 300 united steelworkers of America (CIO) employes at the Ohio Ferro Alloy Co. plant at nearby Philo a five-cent hourly pay increase effective at midnight tonight.

Present wage scales were not available.

A similar contract agreement between the union and the Portsmouth division of Detroit Steel gives 2,200 production workers at Portsmouth a five-cent hourly pay increase. With the increase, effective today, the Portsmouth workers will receive from $1.57 to $3.11 hourly.

EX-SHIPPER DIES

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ralph D. Mitchell, former president of the old Cleveland Steamship Co. and general manager of the Buffalo Steamship Co., died in Cleveland Clinic Hospital yesterday at 75. Funeral services will be Monday.

Preliminaries Set Thursday for 4-H Tractor Matches

Marion County residents will have an opportunity to see the preliminary contest in the tractor driving contest to determine the best tractor operators among 4-H members in the county next week.

The 45 boys who participated in a tractor maintenance school last spring are expected to enter the contest. Thursday, the contestants will meet at the fairgrounds for the preliminary heats.

The four boys who are chosen best will go to the Marion County Fair for the finals. The winner of that event will be permitted to enter the contest at the Ohio State Fair.

A three-fold contest will test the skill of the drivers. They will drive a side delivery rack through an obstacle course, pull a four-wheel wagon out of a barn, make a circle and put it back into the barn; and lineup a tractor with a blower belt.

Driving begins at 8:30 in the morning and is expected to last all day. Elwood Parrott of the Agricultural Extension Service said the public was welcome to watch the boys. Driving will be done in the field just inside the west gate of the fairgrounds.

Steeplejack Jokes Over Fall From Tall Chimney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 23-year-old steeplejack fell 165 feet from a light plant smokestack yesterday and was able to sit up in bed and grin about it today.

Frank Farquhar, of Latty, Paulding County, one of a group painting and cleaning the tower, said he managed to get his hands on a rope as he tumbled over the edge of a platform. That slowed his fall and he suffered only a fractured leg, a few bruises and rope burns.

C&O, McMillen And Eaton Cop Softball Wins

C & O, McMillen and Eaton posted wins in Industrial League No. 2 play last night at Garfield Park.

C & O nipped Pollak 5-4. McMillen blanked Erie No. 2 12-0 and Eaton unmercifully pounded Telephone Co. 27-8.

C & O came in with three runs in the fifth and then hung on for the triumph as Medley hurled a four-hitter. Pollak fell short with two runs in the seventh after C & O broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth with three runs. The winners had scored twice in the second for an early lead but Pollak came back with single runs in the fourth and fifth to knot the score. Potts, the losing hurler, gave up seven hits to C & O. Medley scored the winning run when he reached base on a hit and was driven in by one of Lane's two hits. Shirk also had two hits.

Crabtree spun a four-hit shutout as McMillen downed Erie No. 2. The winners hopped on Cottrill of the losers for 12 hits in pounding out the win. McMillen sealed the contest in the sixth with eight runs on eight hits and a walk. Heller, Dillinger and Baker all had two hits apiece.

Eaton sent seven runners scurrying across the plate in the very first frame and never let up as it trounced the Telephone nine. The winners added six more in the second, three in the third, seven in the fourth and four in the fifth in rolling to the win. Telephone's scoring in the five-inning contest came on a run in the first, five in the second and one in each of the next two frames. Eaton's run production came on 19 hits. The losers were held to 10. Jaggers, Gorham and Sisson all clouted home runs for Eaton while Bailey had three hits.

City softball commission officials today announced that there would be no league games all next week due to the district tournament, in which several Marion teams are taking part, at Galion.

Cockell Whips Kid Matthews, Wants Champ

SEATTLE (AP)—Burly Don Cockell dreamed today of an early whack at Rocky Marciano and the world's heavyweight title after his lethal fists — with an assist from a slipped sacroiliac — disposed of Harry "Kid" Matthews last night in the eighth stanza of a scheduled 10-round fight.

Matthews could not come out for the eighth against the British empire champion, who outweighed him 210½ pounds to 180.

Cockell had the edge all the way and the crowd of 10,478, which paid $91,000 to see the somewhat sour finish, thought it was his headhunting attack which left Matthews helpless.

The clouter from London, for whom this was a third triumph over the same enemy, felt this was his best fight of the three.

Referee James J. Braddock, former heavyweight champion, called the first round a draw and gave all the rest to Cockell.

Ulrich Retains Halfway Edge At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Wally Ulrich, a former National Inter-collegiate champion who has been close but never has won a major tourney since turning pro, puts his halfway lead in the $20,000 Kansas City Open golf tournament on the line today.

The 30-year-old Rochester, Minn. pro, a runner-up in the Canadian Open, scorched the sun-seared, 6,625-yard par 73 Blue Hills Country Club course with a 66 yesterday, giving him 135 for 36 holes. He had an opening round 69.

Ulrich fired seven birdies over the course where the only green spots are the putting greens.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the old Arkansas traveler playing out of St. Louis, matched Ulrich's 66 to go with his first round 70, putting him one stroke off the pace and tied for second with Mike Krak, Louisville, Ky.

The unknown Krak, who electrified the opening day crowd with a hole-in-one and grabbed the first round lead with a 65, had a 71 yesterday.

Time trials will open at 7 p.m. and the first race will get under way at 8:30.

DOUBLEHEADER SLATED

The Erie No. 1 softball team will see action in a twin bill Sunday night at Garfield Park. The railroad crew will lock horns with the Erie Oldtimers in the opener at 6:30 and will then tangle with the Upper Sandusky VFW in the finale.

Man With Withered Hand

A Sermonette

By REV. LESTER L. ZIMMERMAN
Pastor of First Church of the Nazarene

Text: Mark 3:1 "There was a man there which had a withered hand."

Jesus was always seeking out those in need. He found them everywhere. Sometimes, as in the text, he found them in the church. It was the Sabbath Day and Jesus had made his way into the synagogue. Here, among the worshipers, he finds a man with a withered hand. Luke says it was his right hand.

The hand represents fellowship, friendliness, helpfulness, service and generosity. Now this man's ability for these things was withered. He becomes a symbol of many who frequent the House of the Lord. Their worship is only a form through which they pass. They seem to forget that Christians are to be "burning and shining lights in the world."

The most of God the World will know will be learned through His followers. As people watch the lives of the professed followers of Christ, they not only form their idea of the church but they also form their concept of God. This being true, it becomes all important that our hands be filled with good works of service to humanity, that God's cause be not hindered.

THIS MAN represents people, whose spiritual hands are withered. When Peter and John were going into the temple they saw a man in great need. Other people had dropped a few coins into his cup and, perhaps many had just passed him by; but Peter had a helping hand. It was through that helping hand that the crippled man was made to have faith in the healing touch of the Master.

A religion that is not down to earth and practicable in the humble ways of life, is not that of the true God. The priest passed by on the other side; the Levite only came and looked, but the Good Samaritan reached down with his hands to help a fallen brother. Jesus asked the question, "Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?" The answer was, "He that shewed mercy on him." Then said Jesus, "Go thou and do likewise."

Jesus came to bring religion out from the sacred altars and the stained-glass windows and put it in the common roads of men. If it does not work here it is not working anywhere.

THIS MAN WAS conspicuous in the presence of Christ. Jesus' hands were not withered. They were strong to help wherever help was needed, even to the bearing of His body on the cross while He died to redeem a lost world.

His hands were strong to help all within their reach. He even went about seeking out a chance to help. Can we be His child and do less? Can there be such a thing as a selfish Christian? Could one be selfish and even dare to think that he is a follower of Jesus of Nazareth. Withered hands will be conspicuous when He comes for His church.

JESUS OFFERS to this man a cure for his withered hands. He must "stand forth." In this act he confesses his condition and steps out from the crowd. He had to move from where he had been standing. His feet and legs were alright so he must use what he had to help himself.

Then Jesus commands him to do something that hitherto he never had been able to do—"Stretch forth thine hand." He had confessed his need by standing forth, but now his faith was to be tried. Could he believe that Jesus could make the arm whole? He obeys, and in that act of obedience his faith is made active and the arm "stretches out" whole as the other.

The joy that must have swept through his soul. The sense of physical well-being is only surpassed by a sense of spiritual well-being. Only Jesus Christ can make "withered hands" whole. He alone can make you what you ought to be. It was Paul's conviction that we "are complete in Him."

—:—

PRAYER: Oh, God, give us helping hands. By faith we stretch them forth that you may heal and make them strong to serve. Fill us with thy Spirit of Power and grace that men may see that we have been with Thee and bear in our lives the marks of true soaship. In the Name of Jesus we pray. Amen.

BAD TIMING

CONCORD, N. H. (UP) — A congressional candidate hurriedly submitted to a Concord newspaper a copy of the speech he was to deliver that day at a Kiwanis Club luncheon. Half an hour later he telephoned the newspaper office to hold up the story. He had discovered he wasn't scheduled to address the club until a week later.

Although the length of the furlong varied in different jurisdictions in the past, its most common length was an eighth of a mile or one side of a square, 10-acre plot.

Germans Climbing In Africa Markets

LEOPOLDVILLE — (UP) — German businessmen are cutting into British business and even threatening some United States firms in this highly competitive central Africa market, a survey shows.

Trade officials here said that in their hungry search for post-war markets the Germans were eating into this area by means of "generous credits, prompt delivery, good after-sale service and a general approach that nothing is too much trouble to win customers."

Starting with practically no business here after World War II, German exporters nosed ahead of the Union of South Africa and France during the past four years to take fourth place in this rapidly expanding mart. Belgium ranks first in the import business here with the United States a healthy second and Britain definitely third.

Authorities here said the Germans had made particular headway in selling motor vehicles, food products, machinery, tools, chemical and electrical goods and precision instruments. The German prices have been attractive—electrical equipment sometimes 15 to 20 per cent cheaper than similar American products.

"One of the most important things," a customer of a big German firm explained, "is that the Germans take the trouble to tailor their product for this specific market. The British don't always do this."

Elm Tree Thrives

SALEM, Neb. — (UP)—Salem has a tree with a family tree. It is the Salem Elm, now 15 feet tall and with a lineage going back to the famous Washington Elm of Cambridge, Mass.

The Nebraska tree is 11 years old. It is one of the seven "great-grandchildren" of the original tree planted in 1943 on the 300th birthday of the elm under which George Washington took command of the first American army on July 3, 1775.

UP — NOT OUT

RICHLAND, Wash. (UP)—Richland police rushed to the Seattle First National Bank's local branch after a man telephoned to say, "I've got a crew of men cleaning up the vault." They found a crew of men from a cleaning firm doing just that.

Methodists Go To Court Over Use of Church

Conference Officials Seek Injunction To Obtain Use of Edifice

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — The St. Paul Methodist Church controversy expanded into still another court action Friday, this time a request for an injunction on the part of state and district Methodist Church officials.

The action, among other things, asks the church's business manager, Dr. Joseph C. Richards, and officers of the church to be enjoined from interfering with the newly assigned pastor, the Rev. Robert B. Weaver, in holding religious and other services in the church.

Three Plaintiffs

The board of trustees of the Ohio Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, District Supt. Kenneth S. Learey of Van Wert, and Mr. Weaver are the plaintiffs in the latest court action.

Named as defendants were Dr. Richards and 40 officers of the church, including the board of trustees and stewards.

The request for an injunction filed with the clerk of courts came as another court action was about to get under way before Common Pleas Judge Eugene R. McNeill of Van Wert County. Judge McNeill was assigned after Common Pleas Judge H. B. Mullholand of Defiance County retired from the case because he is a lay leader of St. Paul's.

Judge McNeill is hearing a case in which Dr. Richards challenges the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace court before whom Mrs. Weaver filed an eviction suit to gain possession of the church parsonage. Judge Mullholand had granted a temporary writ of prohibition pending a hearing.

Plaintiffs Request

In the injunction suit today, the plaintiffs asked:

1. That the defendants be enjoined from interfering with Rev. Weaver holding religious and other services in the church.

2. That the defendants be prevented from holding meetings unless such meetings are approved by Mr. Weaver and Supt. Learey.

3. That the parsonage be turned over to Mr. Weaver, also keys to the church building and directories of the church membership rolls.

4. That the church treasurer, Glenn Miller, be instructed to give priority to the salary of Mr. Weaver out of the income of the church.

The St. Paul Church controversy has been under way for many weeks. It had its start when Dr. Richards, then pastor, turned in his credentials as a Methodist minister to the church conference, claiming Ohio Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Werner intended to assign him to another post at a reduction in salary. He claimed the bishop planned this action because Dr. Richards' brother had filed a libel suit against the bishop. These contentions of Dr. Richards were denied by Bishop Werner and conference superintendents.

Dr. Richards was then made business manager of the church by the church trustees, and given use of the parsonage. The church accepted the assignment of Mr. Weaver, but declined to pay his salary, or permit him the use of the parsonage.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Have a Peaceful Mind

A friend of mine works for one of our great airlines as a pilot. The plane of which he is captain is powered by four twenty-five hundred horsepower motors. My friend tells me that to get his ship off the ground by the end of his takeoff, every bit of that ten thousand horsepower is employed.

DR. PEALE

But, as soon as he has gained altitude, he reduces his horsepower to eighteen hundred per engine and he cruises normally at fifteen hundred. It is very important, he says, that he use the full horsepower of his engines for only a minute or a minute and a half. If the plane flies more than two minutes at full power, it can easily seriously damage its motors.

When you stop to think about it, planes aren't too different from people. How hard do you drive your motors? Do you use your power when you need it and then level off or do you continue to drive yourself until you tear yourself to pieces?

Every man and woman must answer these questions for himself or herself. For, just as the manufacturer of a great airplane builds vast reserve of power into its motors, so Almighty God has built power into al lof us. And, even more, He has also endowed us with intelligence and spiritual discernment and given us techniques of faith, prayer and quietness so that we may conserve and control this great power.

THAT VERY WISE French philospher, Pascal once wrote that, after observing humankind over a long period of years, he had come to the conclusion that one of men's most pressing troubles is his inability to be still. I suppose that by this he meant the inability of most of us to live with a peaceful mind and to move with the quietness and control which is the secret of power.

This is msot certainly a high-strung and nervous generation. There are evidences of it all about us. I was in our new bus terminal in New York the other day and noticed that they have there one of the fastest escalators I have ever seen. As I was going down, I saw a man opposite me on the up side actually running up the escalator stairs because they apparently weren't fast enough for him. I suppose he was trying to catch a suburban bus, one of those which leave every fifteen or twenty minutes.

But, judging from the look on his face, if he didn't make his bus, civilization would fall. I hope he lived to the end of his trip.

GOD NEVER MEANT us to live this way, to expend our power and waste our usefulness. He meant us to conserve our inner resources for those occasions when we really need them.

There is a Bible passage which I think everyone of us would do well to read at least once a week. It is in the book of Matthew and it tells the story of Jesus asleep on a ship on the sea of Galilee. A storm comes up and the Disciples are afraid. In their fright they run to Jesus, wake Him and ask Him to do something. He goes to the bow, raises His hand, and says, simply, "Peace, be still." The Bible goes on to record, equally simply, "And there was a great calm."

I think that every now and then we ought to realize that God stands over the troubled seas of our lives. Give Him a chance to hold up His hand and say to you, "Peace, be still." And you will feel that great calm described in the Bible. That is the fundamental secret of a peaceful mind.

Rhodes Denies Accusation of Dr. Porterfield

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes says he did not offer pictures of partly dressed Ohio mental patients to a newspaper, as charged by Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the state department of mental hygiene and correction.

Dr. Porterfield said yesterday the office of the state auditor, who is the Republican candidate for governor, had turned over to a reporter a packet of 25 pictures, some showing patients at state mental hospitals in various stages of undress. The director issued instructions to state mental institution superintendents saying he does not "condone the using of human misery for political purposes."

Rhodes denied the pictures had been offered and added that "conditions are so bad at mental institutions the governor doesn't want anyone to see them."

Chicago Driver Charged After Morrow Mishap

One minor accident was reported in Morrow County in the past 24 hours by state patrolmen from the Marion post. It happened on a one-way bridge on State Route 529, one mile east of the Marion County line.

Cars driven by John E. Mullaley, 21, of Chicago, Ill. and by Clarence Ault Jr., 18, of Cardington collided on the bridge. Minor damage was done to both cars, and no one was injured.

However, Mullaley was arrested and fined $20 and costs by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington on a charge of unsafe operations.

Ohio Wesleyan Hosts Session of Young Adults

DELAWARE—One of the shortest of the summer-long conference sessions on the Ohio Wesleyan University campus, the Ohio Young Adult Fellowship Assembly, began Friday with three busy days of discussion groups and recreation.

The approximately 150 members of the assembly, mostly young married couples, were housed in the university's modern Stuyvesant Hall, the freshman women's residence during the school year.

With a conference theme of "This Is Your Life," the assembly had a program broken down into four discussion groups "Life In The Church," "Life In Christ," "Life In The Home," and "Life At My Job."

Dr. Frank D. Slutz, known throughout the United States for his work in educational counseling and as the author of several books, was the resource leader and delivered the assembly keynote address.

Among the many leaders who assisted Dr. Slutz in conducting the conference program was a missionary recently returned from China, Dr. Bliss Wiant. Dr. Wiant told, through music, the story of the Chinese faith in "A Faith That Sings" Saturday night.

Ohio Wesleyan's new swimming pool, Pfeiffer Natatorium, was the center of the recreational activites of the conference.

'Valley of Kings' One of Features At Palace Theater

Playing at the Palace Theater Sunday through Tuesday will be "Valley of the Kings," color production starring Robert Taylor, Eleanor Parker and Carlos Thompson, and "Always a Bride" with Peggy Cummins.

The former tells the story of three people who set out to find the undiscovered tomb of Pharoah Rahotep. Ann Mercedes, played by Miss Parker, is convinced the tomb will unearth evidence to confirm her late father's theory of the authenticity of the Biblical account of Joseph in Egypt and has enlisted the help of American archeologist Mark Brandon played by Taylor.

Third member of the party is Ann's husband, Philip, played by Thompson, who in the beginning is able to hide his true motive for finding the tomb — that of theft, greed and avarice.

Philip and his cohorts of grave-robbers, murderers and native agents attempt to prevent Ann and Mark from finding the tomb.

"Always A Bride" concerns a confidence man and his daughter who work the hotels on the Golden Coast of Monte Carlo.

Starting Wednesday for seven days will be David O. Selznick's technicolor production of "Gone With The Wind," said to be the greatest motion picture of all time. It stars Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland.

The picture which won most of the Academy Awards in 1940 is based on the celebrated Margaret Mitchell novel of the South during the Civil War and in reconstruction days. Seen during the stirring love story are Sherman's march to the sea and the resulting panic-stricken flight of the populace from Atlanta, the siege of Atlanta and the burning of its munitions warehouses, the glittering ball at Tara and the plantation sequences. The marching armies and all the pageantry of the Civil War era.

Film Based on Poe Tale On Marion Theater Bill

Features at the Marion Theater Sunday and Monday will be "Phantom of the Rue Morgue" and "Highway Dragnet."

The former, in technicolor, stars Karl Malden, Claude Dauphin, Patricia Medina and Steve Forrest. It is based on the classic mystery, "Murders in the Rue Morgue" by Edgar Allan Poe.

"Little Caesar" starring Edward G. Robinson and "Public Enemy," which stars James Cagney, will be playing Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Little Caesar" is the drama of the rise of a young gangster to the king of all racketeers, his ruthless methods, his daring escapades, and his romances. "Public Enemy" is about a two-fisted kid who goes wrong and substitutes crime and easy living for honest toil.

Showing Thursday through Saturday will be "Them" starring James Whitmore, Edmund Gwenn, Joan Weldon and James Arness and "The Bowery Boys Meet The Monster" with the Bowery Boys.

The former, a science-fiction movie, involves mysterious killings on the Mojave Desert resulting in a governmental investigation.

The Roman Colosseum, the ruined skeleton of which still stands, was built between 72 and 80 A.D.

Spillane Doffs Pen To Play Character In Feature at Ohio

Featured at the Ohio Theater Sunday through Wednesday will be "Ring of Fear," technicolor Cinemascope production starring Clyde Beatty, Mickey Spillane and Pat O'Brien.

The story concerns the attempt of an escaped homicidal maniac to sabotage a circus during its nationwide tour. Following a series of unexplained accidents, Beatty, owner of the show, summons aid from mystery author Spillane who immediately goes to work on the case.

The desire for revenge against a former sweetheart by the ringmaster, in reality the maniac, brings him to the attention of Spillane.

Playing beginning Thursday will be "Broken Lance," color Cinemascope production starring Spencer Tracy, Robert Wagner, Jean Peters, Richard Widmark, Katy Jurado, Hugh O'Brian.

Woman Facing Manslaughter Charges, Fasts

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP)—Charged with manslaughter in the death of her religious daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dora Liter today fasted in her cell and prayed.

She was formally charged yesterday and was arraigned before Magistrate W. E. Kincaid

"Absolutely not guilty before God or man," she pleaded.

Her daughter-in-law, Edith Liter, 27, was found July 5. Her body, clad in white and arranged in a death pose, was badly decomposed.

After extensive autopsies, the date of her death was placed at April 19.

When she was asked why the death was not reported, the mother-in-law replied she had "reported it to the Lord."

Bond was set at $10,000 and Mrs. Liter was unable to raise it. The grand jury will consider her case

When first arrested, she had refused food but then started to eat. The fast was resumed this week.

Sheriff Eugene Fullton said Mrs. Liter, a self-ordained preacher, drinks only hot tea.

City Fire Fighters Answer Two Calls

Firemen were called out on two occasions Friday, once to extinguish a fire in an old barn, and the other time to remove several bottles of ammonia, the tops of which had blown off and filled a building with fumes.

At 3:55 p m men from the W. Center St. station extinguished a blaze in a barn to the rear of 641 Lee St. Neighbors reported boys playing near the barn had set it afire. No loss was reported.

At 11:30 last night, a call from the L. R. Amrine and Sons building at 508 N. Main St. brought out men from the Central station.

Several bottles of ammonia which were stored in the building had lost their tops. Firemen believe the excessive heat during the day had caused the contents to expand and push out the tops.

Fumes had filled the building by the time the firemen arrived. They removed the bottles and opened the building to allow it to air out.

District Traffic Cases

Four motorists were arrested for traffic offenses in neighboring counties by state patrolmen from the Marion post in the past 24 hours. Two were fined in Morrow County, while the other two were ordered to appear in courts in the future.

Charles W. Madden, 22, of Canton was fined $100 and costs for having fictitious license plates and then paid an additional fine of $10 and costs for crossing a yellow line. The fines were assessed by Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead.

Wallace E. Arbuckle, 44, of Elgin, Tex. was fined $20 and costs for speeding on U. S. Route 42 by Justice of the Peace Richeson of Cardington.

Lester R. Corder, 26, of Columbus was issued a citation to appear before Mayor Don Healea of Cardington next Wednesday to answer a charge of crossing a yellow line. Jesse Berry, 31, of Wyandot, Mich. posted bond for his appearance today in Delaware Municipal Court. He was charged with speeding.

New 'Francis' Film Will Be Screened At North Drive-In Playing at the North Drive-In Theater Sunday and Monday will be "Calamity Jane," technicolor production starring Doris Day and Howard Keel.

Doris Day plays the title role of Martha Canary, heralded girl of the west who as a beautiful lass in buckskins was reputed to be a dead shot with six-gun or Winchester and a horse-woman second to none in the movie.

A first run hit, "Francis Joins the Wacs," is featured Tuesday through Saturday. The picture stars Francis, the talking mule, and Donald O'Connor, Julia Adams, Chill Wills, Mamie Van Doren, Lynn Bari and Zasu Pitts.

The story concerns hapless Peter Stirling, played by O'Connor, who is assigned to the ladies army through the miscalculations of the Army's electronic classifier, and Francis, the talking mule who offers himself as a medical corps guinea pig upon hearing of O'Connor's plight.

South Drive-In Bills 'Back to God's Country'

Showing at the South Drive-In Theater Sunday and Monday will be "Back To God's Country," technicolor picture starrng Rock Hudson, Marcia Henderson and Steve Cochran.

The story concerns a fur-skipper, Hudson, and his young bride, the only woman for hundreds of miles, who are marooned in the relentless Arctic wastes. Theirs is a bruising struggle against the fury of nature and the savagery of men. Cochran is ruler of the frozen empire who wants Hudson's young bride for himself.

"Lovely To Look At," starring Kathryn Grayson, Red Skelton, Howard Keel, Marge and Gower Champion, and Ann Miller plays Tuesday and Wednesday

The technicolor production is the story of a trio of Broadway musical comedy writers whose quest for financial backing for their show ultimately lands them in Paris and in the unique position of being partners in a fashionable dress shop.

Playing Thursday through Saturday will be "The Diamond Queen," in color and starring Fernando Lamas, Arlene Dahl and Gilbert Roland and a Bugs Bunny review of seven color cartoons.

The story tells the story of swashbuckling Jean Baptiste Tavernier, the "Marco Polo of France," first Frenchman to explore India, who later returned to France with the Hope diamond that became the capstone of the crown of Louis XIV.

The Big One

The key proposal in the Eisenhower administration's legislative program this year was the tax bill—the first major reform in federal taxation undertaken since the beginning of the big-spending era. When all other proposals, bills and laws of 1954 have been forgotten, the Eisenhower tax reform will still be remembered. It is historic.

If Americans are lucky—and if they keep an eye on what their congressmen are doing in the years to come—the reform will be the beginning of a new concept of federal taxation and the end of a concept that came into fashion under the New Deal and Fair Deal.

The new concept holds that the purpose of federal taxation is to raise revenue while protecting all the sources of wealth that make revenue-raising possible. The old concept held that the purpose of federal taxation is to heckle the sources of wealth while raising revenue to keep the hecklers securely in public office.

Under the old concept, the federal government operated on a spend-and-elect basis. Under the new concept, the federal government would operate on a conserve-and-elect basis. The Eisenhower administration hopes this may prove to have a powerful political attraction but is well aware of the shrewd use of the previous formula by the political coalition that elected Franklin Roosevelt to the presidency four times and clinched that record-breaking performance with Harry Truman.

This is why the tax bill is the key to the Eisenhower legislative program; it is the essence of the new concept of government—a concept that says government should help to create and conserve wealth in private hands.

No Mistaken Identity

The net effect of the hostile gestures exchanged by Communist China and the United States and Great Britain over the South China Sea is to put all the parties involved in it on their guard.

Communist China did not succeed in making an issue between the United States and Britain by apologizing to the British for shooting down a commercial transport and refusing to apologize to the Americans for shooting at U.S. rescue planes which, in turn, shot down the would-be attackers.

But it did succeed in serving notice on the world that Chinese coastal areas were going to be put under military surveillance and no longer could be entered or even skirted without thought of the consequences. There is every reason to believe this was done deliberately; it was not a case of mistaken identity.

When Japan was ready to assert itself against occidental strength in the Orient it precipitated what became known as the Panay incident to reveal its policy. By opening fire deliberately on a U. S. gunboat operating on a Chinese River in 1937, the militant dictators of the Japanese empire made it plain to the western powers that there had been a cancellation without notice of their right to operate in Asiatic waters without molestation. From that time on, the western powers were on guard.

From this time on, they must be on guard again. A new militant reh srwp asnio ieA. nsia

For and Against System

The civics book version of government in the United States says it is constructed around a two-party system. But as every civics student knows, if he keeps informed, the federal government in recent years has been running under a for-and-against system. There are opposing partisans, but it is not a two-party system.

Among Democrats in Congress are many who vote for measures proposed by President Eisenhower, leader of the Republicans. Many Democrats relied on his popularity in 1952 to help them get elected after they had promised to support him and will be relying on his popularity again next November.

Among Republicans in Congress, moreover, are many who feel no hard and fast obligation to support President Eisenhower because he was nominated by their party in Chicago; they regard him in the same querulous light as some dissident Democrats regarded Franklin D Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

That is to say, they do not regard him as the leader of the Republican party so much as they regard him as the leader of a group of partisans drawn from both parties. And at the opposite end of this political spectrum are Democrats who look to President Eisenhower for leadership instead of to Adlai Stevenson.

This will have direct bearing on the political campaigning that will get under way after Labor Day next Sept. 6. All congressmen are aware of it and will build their political fences accordingly. Voters who saw how the for-and-against system operated during the Roosevelt and Truman administration are seeing the same thing again.

The for-and-against system is the foremost reality of government at the federal level. It has given President Eisenhower more power than he could hope to have if he were the chief executive under the classical two-party system described in the civics books.

Unpalatable Truth

By David Lawrence

Rhee's Advice to Congress Based on Hard Facts

President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea told a joint session of Congress some unpalatable truths. It is doubtful whether many members agreed with the implications of his formula, even though they may have considered his point of view natural and logical from his standpoint.

"Jet bombers," he said in describing the Communist threat, "lie within ten minutes of our National Assembly."

This tells the real reason for Rhee's uneasiness and his realistic appraisal of the situation confronting his countrymen. Communist airfields, he asserts, have been "newly constructed in defiance of armistice terms."

Everybody here knows them to be facts, because they have been officially reported. But, while such truth is glossed over and brushed aside as something folks here do not like to think about Syngman Rhee nevertheless has to think about it.

What he tried to do with his speech was to persuade the American Congress to think about it, too.

Rhee adds: "Death is scarcely closer to Seoul than it is to Washington, for the destruction of the United States is the prime objective of the conspirators in the Kremlin."

-:-

HE IS CONFIDENT that all the Soviets are doing is lulling Americans "into a sleep of death by talking peace until the Soviet Union possesses enough hydrogen bombs and intercontinental bombers to pulverize the airfields and productive centers of the United States by a sneak attack."

This could happen, and history may prove him right some day, for the Western alliance undoubtedly will be taking a big gamble with fate if it ignores that possibility.

There are those who say President Rhee's speech is unfortunately worded, as it may give the Communist propaganda a chance to cry "warmonger."

That's precisely what the sturdy Korean executive wants to overcome — the tendency in America to consult the enemy about what to do about the enemy.

His words were forthright and deliberately chosen because he thinks America is not sufficiently alert to the danger that faces the whole world in the explosive situation of Asia today.

Rhee wants the American Air Force and Navy to help but says no American foot soldiers will be necessary, as these will be furnished by Asian countries.

It is significant that the Korean President does not talk any more about "going it alone" but urges an Allied operation, which he has a right to do in the debate of the free world.

-:-

HE THINKS the troops of Chiang Kai-sek on Formosa — he estimates them at 630,000 — would be useful in arousing the Chinese people when an attack is made and that most of the so-called Communist army will not remain loyal but will revolt at the first opportunity.

He emphasizes, for example, that out of the soldiers of the Communist army captured in Korea only 220 chose to go back to Red China, while 14,369 chose to join the Nationalists on Formosa.

Does this add up to "preventive war"? Not as Dr. Rhee sees it. For he talks with the logic of a soldier. His country is at war already. Millions of his countrymen — innocent men, women, and children — have been killed and what he describes as an "unwise armistice" is being violated every day by the warlike moves of the other side.

To him it seems plain that to resist encroachment is not wrong and that, rather, the free world is wishfully disregarding the facts of Far Eastern life today.

He wants the United States and its Allies to show firmness and to be prepared to fight if necessary.

With a grim suspicion that many of his audience might not agree with him, Rhee added:

"I am aware that this is hard doctrine. But the Communists have made this a hard world, a horrible world, in which to be soft is to become a slave."

-:-

THERE WAS no applause but a solemn silence as he touched on some delicate points. The Congress cheered lustily at the outset and frequently during the course of the address, and at its conclusion gave the brave man from Korea a personal ovation seldom equaled in the chamber of the House.

In their hearts many members felt that, while Syngman Rhee's advice could not for reasons of expediency be adopted at this time, maybe history might prove him right in his forewarning of what happens when an unpalatable truth is ignored.

Lest We Forget

Colorado Bill Loaded With 'Handout'

By Raymond Moley

Almost unnoticed under cover of the storm over the atomic energy bill, the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs approved a huge pork barrel known as the Upper Colorado Storage Project.

It is notable that those senators who were at the moment screaming about Eisenhower's "handout" to private utilities made no mention of another sort of gratuity to favored sections or states which is possible under the rules and organization and customs, which they themselves have created.

As this proposal came from the Interior Department with the President's blessing, there were to be two large power dams and storage reservoirs, at Glen Canyon and Echo Park, with 12 so-called participating projects for minor power, storage, and irrigation.

These were carefully scattered among four states — Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, and New Mexico. The construction cost was estimated at something less than one billion dollars.

SINCE THE PROPOSAL was introduced it has been almost impossible to determine at any given time the number of the secondary projects in the bill. New ones have been added and subtracted with the rapidity of magic. At one stage it was reported in a newspaper in Utah that Sen. Anderson wanted another project in New Mexico, and presto, the project was added.

The Senate subcommittee, in fact, became so lavish in tossing projects into the pot that the construction cost was raised to 1.5 billion dollars. The full committee showed somewhat more restraint, but, at that, it has included projects never approved by the administration — projects on which the Interior Department did not, at least in the original proposal, offer Congress genuinely informative data.

THE BURDEN of such an enormous project will, of course, be sustained by states whose interest or benefit is remote. The four states directly benefited would pay in federal taxes less than one-fiftieth of the cost.

The total of their taxes will be only a little larger than that of Connecticut. The seven states paying more than half the cost will be, in this order, New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, and Texas.

New York would pay 123.4 million dollars, if the construction cost is kept to a billion dollars. California would contribute 93.2 million; Pennsylvania, 69.400 million; Illinois, 69 millin, Ohio 59 million; Michigan 49.1 mllion; Texas, 48.6 million.

Only two of these states, California and Texas, have representatives on the Senate committee that approved this expenditure, and Kuchel of California cast the only vote in opposition. New York Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan would pay more than a third of the billion dollars and have no representative on the committee.

IN FACT, there is not a single Republican senator from east of the Mississippi on that lavish and expensive committee. And the only Democrats are from Florida and Kentucky.

In all this welter of heedless spending, it is hard to find anyone who is looking after the overburdened taxpayer or, in fact, the general interests of the United States.

This is politics, special interest, bad Senate organization, and sectional selfishness at its worst.

The last hope for stopping this vast and reckless measure is in the House. There, at least the taxpayers have a few friends.

Junior Must Read

By Frank Tripp

The chore of parenthood became vastly more intricate with the advent of television. It never was simple to wheedle youngsters into reading and homework. Now it approaches a task for a genius.

The day when Junior would speed forth in the family car used to be the dread of every household. Television has moved anxiety ahead at least 10 years for a parent who has dreams to rear a boy or girl equipped to take a worthwhile place in our complex society. They must read to get there.

The scene in the average home today is a far cry from young Abraham Lincoln, prone on a log cabin floor eagerly searching knowledge from borrowed books by the flickering light of a fireplace.

The scene is less disturbing than the lazy era it depicts, the habits it instills. Our kids still sprawl on the floor full length as did young Abe; but there is little yen for knowledge mostly insatiable desire for amusement, without effort; neglect even of body-building play.

—:—

ALL AROUND THEM are publications and books for which Lincoln would have given his eyeteeth. One's guess is as good as another's whether or not there ever would have been an Abraham Lincoln had he been beset by the diversions which surround our youth.

The odds are high that no diversion could overcome the ambition of a Lincoln, then or now. But what of the millions of others without such capacity and urge to learn?

This is no indictment of television or the formula it must pursue to be acceptable. Neither is it a diatribe advocating all work and no play. Some of television is grand for kids. Play and diversion are essentials of a full life. The joker lies in the prescription and control of the dosage.

—:—

RIGHT THERE rests the obligation of the parent, and a new problem, vastly more complicated than ever in the past.

We all know men who have blundered through life half equipped; failures compared to what they might have been, because of the indulgence of their parents in their childhood. We even know those who curse their parents for their laxity.

Such dismal cases came from days of few diversions compared to now. Temptations to be lax with children then did not beset every waking hour, stand on every street corner, in every garage, in every living room, to distract youngsters from the essential things they should be doing to develop their minds and bodies.

HOURS THAT BELONG to play, reading and homework are being spent absorbing pictures and stories which contribute nothing to their future, some which children might better not see and hear.

It seems so easy, such a slick way to keep the kids occupied, while we too enjoy ourselves. Yet it engenders indolence and habits that may wreck our children's lives. Most dangerous is the lazy habit of watching and listening, at the expense of reading, which is the very foundation of education.

THE MORE youngsters read, beginning as tots with Mother Goose and Peter Rabbit, mounting gradually as their minds develop, the more will they read and learn through life; by searching knowledge rather than accidentally encountering it on a picture screen.

The sooner they must leave school, the more important reading becomes. Successful people never stop reading — textbooks, classics, old masters for their foundation; newspapers, magazines and current literature to be abreast of the era in which they must compete.

There are few places, none at the top, for the persons who doesn't know what's going on in the world. He can't converse intelligently; without the newspaper, not even about his own neighbors.

—:—

KNOWLEDGE is free to every youth who will read, none is so doomed as one who will not. That which one reads cannot be taunted by the suavity or whims of an airway narrator. Only savsages hand down shifty legends by word of mouth.

Parents who condone or abet ignorance of the printed word, both past and current, are more than enemies of their own kin. They are enemies of society.

If you love your children, insist that they read. Some day they will bless you for it. And remember that the newspaper in the poor man's university.

Dedicated Lives

By TRUMAN TWILL

Frequently, you hear it said that the members of one or another occupational group are "dedicated."

This means they regard what they are doing as of such singular importance that they will keep on doing it come hell or high water. It means they are more interested in their work than in the money they earn. They have no hope of profit.

School teachers, for example, are often spoken of in this manner, to explain why so many of them continue to do something that they know will not give them much more than a subsistence. It is pointed out that they are like preachers in that respect. No one becomes a preacher to make a financial killing. Men go into the ministry because they regard it as something to which they can dedicate their lives with no misgivings.

Besides preachers and school teachers, there are some other occupations that call for a spirit of dedication. Men who are willing to endure the rigors of education at Annapolis and West Point to qualify for officer rank in the professional navy and army—and in a few more years the professional air force—have a sense of dedication. There is no money in it and usually no glory.

Social workers don't go gunning for either money or glory. If they are good ones, they have an inner compulsion to follow the example of the Good Samaritan — to patch up the damage done by unexpected collisions between hard realities in a world with a mighty narrow margin for human error.

Most of the people who are called scientists draw on a sense of dedication to rationalize their existence. If they are any good at what they are doing, they must have an attitude of detached selflessness which rivals that of the traditional country doctor, who dedicated his life to healing so completely he eventually lost it in the service of his fellow men.

Artists and writers are famous for their doctrine of dedication, although it may be suspected that in some cases they are equally dedicated to the proposition it is possible somehow to live without physical exertion.

Scholars who carry on exhaustive research into special fields of knowledge are dedicated to the advancement of knowledge in a world that they feel to be held back and slowed down by ignorance.

Every trade and every skill has it's dedicated people — men and women who have made up their minds they would rather do one particular thing well than anything else under the sun. The spirit of dedication, in other words, is not associated with what people do to earn a living but how they feel about being alive.

If they feel they are performing a service of great enough importance to make their satisfaction in performing it a substantial part of their reward. They have put service ahead of gain. Consequently, it appears that people who do difficult and exacting tasks for small amounts of money and still have a strong sense of satisfaction must have dedicated their lives to service.

It would be a pretty drab world to live in if they weren't around to brighten it up.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Port of Missing Men

We've been up in the Cape Ann country where we checked on John Kieran, birdwatcher, naturalist, author, human encyclopedia, fieldglass rover, sports authority and most famed member of the sadly missed Information Please programs.

Mr. Kieran disappeared from his Bronx and Gotham habitats recently. Nantucket has seen much of him, but he seemed to have landed with something approaching permanence at Rockport, Mass. Thoreau and the Red Sox are not far away. We found Jonathan's routine changed.

Once he was up with the lark woodsman's ax in hand, lashing at trees with something of the fury of Lincoln and just a touch of Bert Lahr. Now he can take a tree or leave it alone. We never had to hide behind a rock once for fear of his ax flying from his hand, accidentally or otherwise this time.

He writes, reads, hikes, meditates, collects royalties, enjoys himself in the philosophy that money is only money, rejects TV propositions and gives the chill to suggestions that he and his charming wife (and a phenomenal wonder) would make a "natural" in a video Mr. and Mrs. act.

-:-

Our most unsurprising discovery was that he has only a midget radio and keeps it in the kitchen, possibly because so much of radio today relates to recipes, iceboxes and the importance of beer to baseball . . . And to TV set! This despite the fact he found fame and fortune on the radio and TV did him no harm. . . Not even baseball on video is a "must" and he will take a bird book over a fight telecast any time.

The day we arrived he was feeling pretty high over the discovery of an island full of terns . . . Seems they are a bird. (We asked if they were left terns or right terns and got a withering look.)

"What do you think of the Giants?" we asked.

"Gloucester tufted halibut-hunting seagull," he replied in Latin, looking through his glasses.

Do you think the Dodgers can come back?" we pressed. "Cape Ann ring-necked tourist-hissing curfew, and I don't mean Buffel-Headed Scoter," he replied, pointing in Greek.

For all of him the world series can be between the Pied-Billed Grebe and the Bay-Winged Dickcissel. . . Lost in such matter we asked, "Could you shake us up a Manhattan, no feathers?" . . . "Once a tourist, always a tourist," he replied.

On our Cape Ann trip we also found Buck Crouse, the columnist who decided it was more fun being a Broadway millionaire. He has a superdooper home at Annisquam . . . (Probably thinking of a musical "Annisquam Get Your Gun.")

Howard Lindsay resides a stone's throw, or rather a deposit box's throw, away. From Lindsay's place you can see the Gloucester fishing boats pursuing the cod but he denies he and Crouse may do something called "Life With Codders."

It was tough getting back from Cape Ann and smack into things like the Indochina settlement. Our side slumped more in Geneva than the Dodgers did on the road. We can't gok at the Geneva picture without seeing an umbrella and a man out of the past muttering something about "peace in our time." Oh well, we saw the inevitable end coming the minute we noticed Americans endorsing vodka in page newspaper ads.

The Reds took over Geneva, made a production number of the Free World's bumbling routines and gave the world its first yodeling in Chinese and Russian.

We hear that Switzerland's St. Bernard dogs are behaving like waltzing bears and won't even consider a rescue without a six-week's parley and a signed agreement by the snowbound victim that he be certified as peace-loving in the Kremlin and Peiping pattern.

Yale Bowl, generally thought unused except for football games, is packing 'em in this summer for concerts . . . Some 18,000 saw and heard Martha Wright and Bill Tabbert there the other night.

The Germans indicated that the Russians may have reached Warsaw proper and their communique acknowledged the fall of the former Lithuanian capital of Kansas.

Counterattacking at every opportunity, Nazi infantry and tanks held the Eighth Army at bay in the hills 5 to 7 miles southwest of Florence at a cost hardly likely to prove worthwhile to the enemy's depleted armies.

Atlantic City Fire Damages Pier and Shops

Starts in Boardwalk; Damage Estimated At Over Half-Million

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Fire starting under the boardwalk last night ate out part of the famed steel pier here, causing damage near a half million dollars.

Four stores at this mecca for sightseers and convention delegates were damaged as the flames raced along a half-block area.

A huge General Motors exhibit at the pier entrance, an elaborate pier marquee, and part of the boardwalk were consumed by the blaze.

Workmen quickly started repairing the damaged stores and setting up makeshift box offices for the big amusement area.

The fire was discovered about 5:45 p.m. by Patrolman James Gilligan, who smelled smoke as he was walking along the boardwalk. He said he thought the blaze might have been started by a discarded cigarette or a short circuit in electric lines.

An estimated 5,000 persons attending shows and exhibits on the steel pier were allowed to stay there and were in no danger. Another 500, at the Ocean Theater watching a motion picture, were evacuated without incident.

Damaged in the fire were the front of the steel pier, two Howard Johnson eating places, Fralinger's Taffy Store, and a Planter's Peanut store.

Marion's Revenue Office To Be Open On One Day Only

Beginning next week, the Marion office of the District Director of Internal Revenue at 147 W. Center St. will be open only on Fridays. Office hours will be from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Revenue agents will be available on Fridays to give assistance and information and supply tax forms. During the rest of the week, the staff will be engaged in field activities.

The office will also be open the last business day of January, April, July, and October to give assistance to those persons who file quarterly excise tax returns.

No cashier will be on duty at the Marion office in the future. The woman who formerly held that office has been given a position in the Columbus district office, where her services are more needed.

All payments should now be sent directly to the Columbus office of the Internal Revenue Department. The district office in Columbus said the move in limiting service at the Marion office was made to cut costs, and because officials in Columbus felt the reports made from the Marion office showed there was no real need to remain open more than one day a week.

Traffic Cases

Fines and bond forfeitures totaling $330 were assessed against six motorists in Marion Municipal Court Friday. Heaviest penalty was against Alvin C. Boger of near Marion who pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

On the first charge, Boger had asked for a jury trial earlier. He changed his plea to guilty Friday and was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to five days in the County jail, and had his drivers license suspended for three years.

Court costs in the case totaled $115.17 because some jurors had already been chosen and paid. A plea of guilty on the resisting charge brought a fine of $25 and costs which was suspended on condition of future good behavior.

Other cases and the dispositions follow:

James W. Noe, 39, of 177 Olney Ave., improper parking, $15 and costs; Paul C. Weise, 20, of Columbus, speeding, $35 bond forfeited; Delmas L. Casto, 22, of near Mansfield, no muffler, $15 and costs; Charles D. Murton, of 795 Oak Grove Ave., reckless operation, $25 and costs; and Michael L. Ashki, 54, of Tonawanda, N. Y., passing in a no passing zone, $15 and costs.

Autonomy Granted Tunisia by France

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—France gave Tunis control of its internal affairs today—with a few strings attached—in a lightning effort by Premier Pierre Mendes-France to end the terrorism in this troubled protectorate.

Acting with the authority of his Cabinet, the Premier told the Bey of Tunis that if he desired, a new government could be formed which, except for defense and foreign affairs, would be empowered to negotiate with France the terms of the new internal sovereignty.

The statement was made to the Bey within two hours after Mendes-France's surprise flight from Paris to outline the new proposals approved by his Cabinet yesterday.

"The internal autonomy of the state of Tunisia is recognized and proclaimed without reserve by the French government," Mendes-France told the Bey in a formal statement. "The high quality of the Tunisian leaders justifies that the people should be called upon to direct their own affairs."

Dowsing Actually Works, Writer Says

It's Fantastic, but Should Be Investigated, Author Of Novels Believes

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me. (AP) — A noted author and a sun-browned man of the outdoors who talks to a forked twig want to solve the world's drinking water shortage. Kenneth Roberts, who has written many popluar historical novels, has directed operations of Water Unlimited here for five years. Henry Gross, a retired Maine game warden, handles the dowsing rod.

Their activities and claims have brought a storm of skepticism and criticism from geologists and scientists.

—:—

"THEY THINK we're crazy," Roberts says. "But they won't look at us. We've been turning up water all over the United States."

Roberts agrees with geologists and engineers that the extra sense he claims for a good dowser is wholly fantastic and unexplainable. "We only disagree when (they) contend that it cannot exist and therefore should not be investigated and put to use."

Roberts has written two books about water dowsing.

A dowsing rod in the hands of a competent dowser, only works on flowing underground water, he says This excludes motionless deposits, such as are punctured by artesian wells. It means underground rivers, sheets, veins and domes.

The rod, Roberts claims, points not only to water veins and domes over which the dowser is standing, "but to water sources at great distances from the dowser.

—:—

GROSS, WHO TRAVELS 50,000 miles a year, doesn't like to search for water by remote control—from maps and charts, but it was on a map that Gross located three wells in Bermuda, where thirsty folk, including U S Air Force men, drank stored rain or imported water. The latest success reported was finding water from a scale map for a scientist —G. Preston Hoff of Wilmington, Del., an E. I. du Pont de Nemours chemist.

It's pretty difficult, Roberts says, to estimate the percentage of failures.

"Probably eight per cent of wells, sunk, dug or drilled on our say so have not produced water in the desired amount We found that when Henry's rod points to flowing underground water, the water is always there; but circumstances may seem to show that it isn't."

Water-seeking at a Torrington, Conn. school site, he said, would have been "a monumental failure if we hadn't insisted that the well be surged—or washed out under pressure" This cleaned crevices of cement - like drilled rock dust, and the well was a success.

Any kind of, small, forked, branch will do for a dowsing rod, says the gray-haired, strong-handed Gross. He also says he can use a forked piece of wire or blade of grass.

AS GROSS BENDS over a map or chart or stands on his searching ground, Roberts asks the questions, which Henry repeats, as if to the rod:

"Now, Henry," Roberts asks, "in what direction is the nearest vein" Henry turns until the rod plunges. Roberts asks about domes, width, flow — More than a score of questions. As the rod dips, Henry answers.

"For hundreds of years," Roberts says, "minor scientists have attacked water dowsers, heaping curses on their heads and accusing them of every imaginable form of demonology and witchcraft

"I have never ceased to marvel at the peculiar and unexplained timidity that leads so many people to try to conceal the fact that they have been to us for help."

He has a letter from an Air Force man undergoing treatment in a neuro-psychiatric ward in a base hospital. This man also is a dowser.

"The medicos," he said, were "so damned prejudiced that they believe that mere interest in the subject is sufficient to question a person's sanity," the letter says.

Revising Hearings By George Sokolsky

The Jenner Committee has been holding a prolonged series of hearings on the subject of revising current methods of holding congressional hearings or perhaps establishing rules, by legislation, by which all congressional committees will be required to abide. Many senators, representatives and delegates from public organizations presented their ideas before the Jenner Committee and much of it is tripe.

SOKOLSKY

Reading the testimony has been a more than usually difficult chore because few of those who testified had anything constructive to say and I fear that some of them only appeared because they hoped to attract a headline. Some of the suggestions, if adopted, could only have served to prevent hearings from taking place at all. However, Senator Charles Potter of Michigan, who has gained considerable attention by voting with the Democrats in the McCarthy Committee, made a point which is worthy of comment:

"I do not believe that rules in themselves insure an effective, efficient and fair investigation. I have seen committees with lax rules conduct excellent investigations. I have seen committees with excellent rules conduct investigations. I have seen committees with standards expected. We must recognize that the element of personality is an important factor in congressional committees. . . ."

This is altogether true because the conduct of a hearing depends entirely upon the chairman, who has great authority if he wishes to use it. When Senator Tom Walsh presided over the committee that investigated the Teapot Dome Scandal, he pushed his committee work forward to a conclusion. His associate, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, stood out so that today only Walsh and Wheeler are remembered in connection with this committee. It requires research to recall others on the committee. On the other hand, the Nye Committee was entirely controlled by its staff, which included a large number of Communists. One of the most disreputable committees of the Congress was that headed by Hugo Black, who ,nevertheless, became an associate justice of the Supreme Court which so outraged public opinion at the time that President Roosevelt had to deliver his Quarantine speech to take the sting out of the news of Black's appointment.

There can be no question but that the McCarthy Committee, of which Mr. Potter is a member, has been managed entirely by Senator McCarthy with which idea Mr. Potter went along for more than a year. The Democratic members of this committee retired from it for some months, objecting to McCarthy's procedures, but no Republican member of the committee challenged Senator McCarthy's solo management until after January of this year when the White House objected to the Wisconsin Senator's apparent competition for party leadership. This was the essential issue in the recent McCarthy-Stevens hearing, which might more correctly be termed, the McCarthy-Sherman Adams conflict.

DURING THE PRELIMINARY quarrels which led to the open break between Senator McCarthy and the White House, is sapaoopr and the White House, a proposal was made to the Senator, of which I knew at the time, that in his investigations of government departments, he hold only executive sessions, in secrecy and in silence so far as the public is concerned, and that whatever he learned be placed at the disposal of the White House.

This proposal was rejected. After all, the Committee on Investigations exists by act of Congress to uncover, to disclose, to expose wrong - doing in the executive branch of the government.

Senator Potter has now come up with the same proposal in his statement before the Jenner Committee:

Knowing the chief executive desires wholeheartedly to cooperate wit hthe legislative branch, I believe it would be highly desirable if the President designated a personal representative to receive the findings of investigating committees and act upon them. The committee concerned should then be advised of the action taken. In my opinion, this would unquestionably make for a greater degree of effective cooperation between the legislative and executive branches.

"If the committee is not satisfied with the action taken by the executive branch, it may then proceed with a full scale investigation and hearing."

This means nothing more than the cover-up.

'Father Mac' By Hal Boyle

PINE RIDGE, S. D.

"I always like the spirit of these people."

In this simple sentence the Rev Stephen E. McNamara, who calls himself an "ecclesiastical hobo," sums up 30 years of service to the American Indian.

HAL BOYLE

To thousands of Indians here on the largest reservation of the Sioux nation, the Jesuit priest, now in his 80th year, is known as "Sina Sapa" or "Black Blanket," from the color of his cassock. Others affectionately call him "the Father from the Blue Cloudland."

For more than a quarter of a century "Father Mac" has baptied them, married them and buried them. In the Holy Rosary Mission School he has labored mightily to teach their children white man's lore to make them self-sufficient, the love of God to make them happy.

—:—

LIKE MOST people who come to know American Indians well, Father Mac has a deep respect for them and a protective feeling toward them.

His fine blue eyes harden and an indignant note creeps into his soft voice when he speaks of those he feels expect the Indians to progress at a rate beyond their ability.

"No people in all history have moved up from a savage status to modern civilization in one generation," he said. "It will take time.

"It seems to me it is the policy of the government now to write them off, and they are not ready yet. It will be a long time before the Indian will be able to compete on equal terms in the white man's world, particularly the way the white man's world is going now.

"Why, there are still Indians alive who virtually were born in the stone age and yet they have grandchildren in college."

FATHER MAC has a feeling of real sympathy for the tug of war going on in the soul of a nomad people such as the Sioux, as they try to buckle down to the anchored life and steady work habits of their white conquerors. "The Sioux are very intelligent people," he said, "but their theme song always has been 'Don't Fence Me In.' They'd still in their hearts rather be out on the range hunting the buffalo.

"About 95 per cent of them are Christians now, and they no longer worship the sun. In the old days even when they camped in a circle, the circle was left open in the direction of the rising sun.

"They are a placid people—a good people. The Sioux, for example, have no such thing as real profanity in their own language. If they want to use curse words, they have to borrow them from the white man."

—:—

FATHER MAC as roved in the performance of his faith farther than the old Sioux wandered for food. Born in Keokuk, Iowa, he studied at St. Mary's, Kan., taught at St. Louis University and spent five years with the Arapaho Indians in Wyoming before coming to the Pine Ridge Reservation.

He is poorer than the poorest Sioux, too. Under the Jesuit vow of poverty he may own no earthly possession—not even the shoes he walks in—and must serve wherveer he is sent.

"It's no surprise party," said Father Mac cheerfully.

"I'll get a cheap coffin and six feet on the hill when I'm through. But you know what this work is when you get into it.

"If I had it to do over again, I'd pick the same thing—yes, by all means."
